DECLINES.

Mr. Bullard Not a Candidate

For Renomination as Representative.

Boston, May 28, 1902.

Mr. Chas. E. Hatfield, Chairman,
Republican City Committee.

West Newton, Mass.

Dear Mr. Hatfield:

I am about to make an important change in my business which will render it impossible for me to consider the question of a re-nomination as Representative from Newton, and it seems to me advisable to give you this information thus early in order that you may be in position to encourage any worthy aspirant for my seat.

It seems to me that the policy of Newton should be to return one experienced member rather than to send two green men to the Legislature every other year. Fortunately for Newton, my colleague, Mr. Dana, is willing to accept a re-nomination.

I believe I am in a better position than any other citizen of Newton to judge of his worth as a Representative, and it is my sincere belief that our city would not be able to find a better man than he. His influence is rapidly growing, and he is today recognized as one of the strong men of the House, and is very likely to be chairman of the Committee on Judiciary next year, which will make him the Republican House leader.

I am also strong in the opinion that Newton cannot do better than to send one business man to the General Court with a good lawyer; so that I hope my successor will be a business man.

With sincere appreciation of your friendly help in the past, I am,

Yours very truly,
(Signed), George F. Bullard.

Norumbega Park.

Norumbega Park is attracting particular attention this season by reason of its many noticeable improvements. Though patrons having been saying the past two or three seasons that the Park could not possibly be more beautiful another season the march of improvement has gone on under the capital guidance of Manager Alberte and each summer he manages to bring forth a still more beautiful object of interest. The Rustic Theatre is not only improved by the addition of three hundred more seats, but the standard of the vaudeville bills presented each week, every afternoon and evening, has been raised and patrons are promised the headline talent of the best vaudeville houses in the country. It is promised that next week and all the succeeding weeks will see a vaudeville program equal in the importance of names to that of this past week, containing: Mayne (Globe), Hacker and Lester, Smith, Doherty and Coe, Dillon Brothers, D'Elmar Trio, and the Wilsons.

MEMORIAL DAY

Appropriately Celebrated
In Newton.Patriotic Speeches at Banquet
In Temple Hall.

The Memorial Day program as published last week was followed quite closely by the G. A. R., last Friday, with the pathetic exception that the Post was called upon to bury the body of an old soldier, Jeremiah E. Earl, who died at the Newton cemetery. The interment was made in the Soldiers' lot at the Newton cemetery.

The Post was busy all the morning in decorating the graves of their fallen comrades, and then lunched at Newton Highlands, where the afternoon parade was formed near the Hyde school at 1.30 o'clock.

The procession then formed as follows under direction of Chief Marshal, Capt. Albert C. Warren, and staff:

Two Platoons of Police, In charge of Lieut. Fred M. Mitchell. Chief Marshal, Staff and Aides. Carter's Band. T. M. Carter, leader. Claflin Guards, Co. C, 5th Regt. M. V. M. Captain E. R. Springer.

Charles Ward Post 62, Grand Army of the Republic, Colonel S. Ober, Commander, 90 men.

Disabled Comrades in Carriages. Thomas Burnett Camp, Legion of Spanish War Veterans.

Henry J. McCammon, President. Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent No. 2. Daughters of Veterans.

Miss Marie Groth, President. High School Band, Harry Owens, leader.

High School Battalion. Capt. G. M. Henderson, commanding. Adj. H. C. Daniels.

Quartemaster H. H. Cheney. Co. A. Capt. Frank Nagle. Co. B. Capt. R. W. Graves.

Co. C. Lieut. T. W. Watkins. Co. D. Capt. C. W. Pratt. Co. E. Capt. R. L. Atwood.

Co. F. Capt. Frederick Hinds. Artillery Detachment, Sergt. W. Russell.

Signal Corps, Sergt. C. Gammons. His Honor, John W. Weeks, Mayor, and City Government in carriages.

Arriving at the cemetery, the various organizations took their positions around the Soldiers' monument, and prayer was offered by Rev. E. F. Snell of West Newton.

Rev. L. H. Dorchester of Newton Centre then delivered an impressive and eloquent address, taking as his subject the values and blessings of life giving. He illustrated his address with a beautiful story of the growth of forget-me-nots on barren Morris Island after the battle of Fort Wagner, caused by the enrichment of the soil from that bloody conflict, and drew the moral that our country has received the full benefit from the sacrifices and cost of the Civil War.

Commander C. S. Ober then read the Gettysburg oration of President Lincoln, followed by the singing of America by the people.

Rev. Calvin Cutler of Auburndale then said the benediction and the exercises closed with the sounding of taps and the booming of canon.

The procession then reformed and marched to the drill field in the rear of the High school where a grand parade was formed, Capt. E. R. Springer being the reviewing officer. The High school battalion then marched to the drill hall, where dinner was served, and the Post and invited guests proceeded to Temple Hall, where a substantial repast was provided, under the direction of the Daughters of Veterans.

Commander Ober presided and after cigars had been lighted, opened the speaking by extending a welcome to the guests, saying in part:

Another "Memorial Day," with its sad duties and recollections has come. By the addition of new members our ranks are as full now as one year ago.

Several of our comrades have responded to the last call since that time; we miss them and think of them with honor and pride.

We have alike with this whole Nation been called to mourn the loss of our Comrade, Soldier, Statesman and President, the Honorable Wm. McKinley. (Post, arise and stand a moment in silent salute). We revere his memory, we applaud his noble life and virtues, we confide in his successor; we are proud to be numbered as American citizens; and we believe this Nation has done more for those who fought her battles than any other Nation has done for its soldiers. We think her liberality to those who were aimed and disabled by war has been magnanimous and this Post has no favors to ask or fault to find. We are proud that we live in the old "Bay State," Massachusetts.

We are also "Citizens of a new mean City," Newton, whose people from the beginning of the Civil War until this day, have been our strong bulwark, and we are proud to be citizens of such a Nation, State and City.

Mayor Weeks was received with three rousing cheers, and said in part that he was glad to see the outpouring of the people today to assist in the simple and expressive services at the cemetery. Speaking to the Post, Mayor Weeks said that their services mean that the men now on the field should profit by them, and that in the new and intricate problems the nation now has to meet, every citizen should support the administration engaged in carrying on the work.

The Mayor believed that while there was a feeling of unrest over the Philippine question it was the duty of every one to allow the policy now engaged in to be worked out. (Applause.) The Mayor believed that there would be some reasonable explanation given of the apparent cruelties reported from the East, and that the administration should be given time and should be supported until its policy is worked out. (Applause.)

In closing, the Mayor said that there was just as much patriotism now as ever, and that the support of the administration was the patriotic duty of the present generation.

Rev. E. F. Snell of West Newton responded for the churches of Newton, and said in part: The patriotism of the Grand Army is a standard for the younger generation, as your war could not be submitted to arbitration and was waged for the highest principles. It was not a military war, fought by professional soldiers, but waged by the kind of an army, necessary to save this kind of a land. Mr. Snell believed that our patriotism is splendid, and our sentiment towards the Philippines is noble, but he urged that there was a danger of militarism, and that a standing army was a menace. He saw no danger in criticizing the army, if it is the servant of the people. There was also danger of our patriotism tending towards partisanship, a danger of commercialism, and he declared that the country was not safe until it was in the hands of the rank and file of industry as well as its captains.

Mr. Snell spoke in high terms of Senator Hoar's recent speech, and did not believe that its sentiment belonged to a former generation, and, closed with an eloquent tribute to Memorial Day.

Mr. Enoch C. Adams of the High school answered for the schools, saying that they stood next to the home, as the most characteristic and important institution of the country. Mr. Adams believed in patriotism, and in the sentiment, that to die for one's country was sweet, but he emphasized the thought that to live for one's country was equally noble and glorious. In this age of commercialism, such lives are important and necessary, both in the social and political world.

Alderman Mellen responded for the city government of Newton in an eloquent and patriotic speech, saying in part: There is but one sentiment worthy of this day, and it fills all our hearts and bubbles spontaneously to our lips. He contrasted the departure of the troops to the civil war and their return home, and emphasized the dominant note of patriotism that existed at that time.

Patriotism he declared, guided the hand of Lincoln in the emancipation proclamation; patriotism dictated Grant's letter after the battle of the Wilderness; patriotism was the secondary commander in Sherman's glorious march to the sea, and patriotism enabled Sheridan to strike terror to the men under Jubal Early.

Mr. Mellen was proud of a city government without a scandal and of an administration without a stain, and believed that the present generation had learned from the Grand Army, how to do so well in civil life today. In closing, Mr. Mellen earnestly hoped that the present would never fall from the high standard of patriotism set up so gloriously by the Grand Army 30 years ago.

Past Commander W. A. Wetherbee made a brief and fervent speech in which the sentiment that some day our flag may be furled in the Philippines, but not furled until with honor, was greeted with warm applause. Mr. Wetherbee then sang a verse from the Red, White and Blue, the audience joining in the chorus.

Brief speeches of thanks were then made by Capt. C. W. Knapp, the Adj. Gen. of the day, and Commander H. J. McCammon of the Spanish War Veterans.

Capt. Springer of the Claflin Guards then gave a forceful speech, strongly advocating the establishing of a national guard, composed of the militia of the several states. He gave the experiences during the camp of 1898 to prove that soldiers cannot be made in a minute and that in times of peace the country should prepare for war.

Hon. G. D. Gilman for the associate members recalled the holy horror that was felt years ago at the danger of a Caesar in the person of Grant, and how the great army of the civil war faded away like the sunset, with a rainbow of promise that when needed again as it was in 1898, the volunteers would be ready for service. Mr. Gilman, believed in commercialism, and was glad of the good work being done in the Philippines. He was proud of Massachusetts and Newton, where he declared there were many men of many minds, and some women. He closed with saying that he believed that the time was coming when the detractors of the country would regret their present words, and he had faith that the words of McKinley and of Roosevelt as to the intentions of the United States in the East would be fulfilled.

Rev. John Mattison of Auburndale said that Memorial Day was a day of Brotherhood and dramatically told a story of the war. In closing, Mr. Mattison said that our flag is in the East and we are responsible for the maintenance of the American principles of honor, justice and brotherhood.

Rev. C. M. Southgate started in to announce that Gen. Curtis Guild would speak at Auburndale on the following Sunday afternoon, but was stuck tracked into a most interesting talk on matters of general interest.

Rev. O. S. Davis of Newtonville said the country was now to face with a most magnificent experience. He declared that our recent action in Cuba completed an act of self sacrifice in the interests of freedom that no other country in the world dared to take. He said that no man had a right to consider our present problem or policy in the East without regard to our acts in Cuba, and that he was willing to trust the word and policy of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, and would rest all doubts of that war on the splendid letter of President Roosevelt to Bishop Lawrence. He believed it was the good purpose of God to trust the American people with Cuba and the Philippines and that the end would come in His own time and way.

After telling a laughable story pertinent to the alleged cruelties in the East, Mr. Davis urged the audience to trust our civic leaders, as our cause is right and the American army was there in the interests of freedom and justice. He, himself, feared neither militarism, commercialism nor any other kind of ism, as he trusted the heart of the American people.

Brief speeches were made by Miss Marie Groth, President of the Daughters of Veterans and by Rev. W. M. Mick, who responded for the Post, and after the singing of America by the audience, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Webb of Needham.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, May 28.

Although there is nothing in the present situation to indicate that this session of the General Court will take place in the list of short sessions of recent years, there are evidences that we are on the home stretch, nevertheless. A great deal depends upon what is done on the subway question. It is expected to consume two weeks' time. For several days, there has been a rather deplorable exhibition of backing and filling on the part of the different parties in the controversy, and finally the Mayor of Boston capped the climax by alleging in opposition to the proposition of Chairman Jones of the metropolitan committee that the railroad board pass upon the question of the length of the lease and the rental to be paid by the elevated railway company, that in his opinion the average voter of the city of Boston was as competent to decide what would be the proper term and rental as the members of the railroad commission. Such an allegation on the part of the chief executive of the city of Boston, himself an able lawyer and an expert in judicial matters, would be comical if it were not so serious, for a while it looked as though the insistence of Mayor Collins upon the term of twenty-five years at a rental of four and one half per cent., would result in no bill being reported, and nothing being done, but Senator Jones is a man of courage, and when he found that Mayor Collins was determined upon having his own way or nothing, he calmly announced that the proper thing to do was to report and pay a bill which would provide that the railroad commissioners should fix upon what they deemed to be the proper length of the lease and annual rental, which should then be submitted to the people of Boston for a vote. It is quite likely that by the time the Graphic prints this letter such a bill will have been reported.

A resolve has been engrossed in each branch to extend for one year the time for the report of the committee appointed to consider the advisability of constructing a dam across the Charles river between Boston and Cambridge.

This committee of which President Pritchett of the Boston Institute of Technology is chairman, and Hon. Richard H. Dana and Col. S. M. Mansfield are the other members, has evidently found the problem much greater than they had anticipated.

Representative Dana will have to take the field again on the question of a Constitutional amendment to provide for the submission of special acts passed by the General Court, to the people upon the petition of 50,000 voters. It will be recalled that he led a successful fight against the resolve reported by the committee on constitutional amendments on a similar petition, which was strongly favored by Col. T. W. Higginson and various other political economists.

His attitude was that ours was a representative government, but that it would practically disappear and the Legislature be reduced to a very humiliating position, were such an amendment to go into the Constitution. The other day Representative Carey of Haverhill took the floor in support of a similar resolve introduced on his own petition, but reported against by the Constitutional amendments committee, and by a vote of fifty-four to fifty-two the committee's attitude was rejected and the resolve substituted. This is an easy proposition for Mr. Dana. The resolve cannot possibly secure a two-thirds vote.

Representative Bullard and his associates on the railroad committee have heard the final arguments on the bill to provide for a new union station in Worcester, and are now seeking to discover what sort of legislation they can report upon it. Mr. William H. Coolidge of your city, general counsel of the Boston and Maine system, is, of course, anxious to see that the interests of his great client are properly guarded.

Counselors there were many men of many minds, and some women. He closed with saying that he believed that the time was coming when the detractors of the country would regret their present words, and he had faith that the words of McKinley and of Roosevelt as to the intentions of the United States in the East would be fulfilled.

Rev. John Mattison of Auburndale said that Memorial Day was a day of Brotherhood and dramatically told a story of the war. In closing, Mr. Mattison said that our flag is in the East and we are responsible for the maintenance of the American principles of honor, justice and brotherhood.

Rev. C. M. Southgate started in to announce that Gen. Curtis Guild would speak at Auburndale on the following Sunday afternoon, but was stuck tracked into a most interesting talk on matters of general interest.

Rev. O. S. Davis of Newtonville said the country was now to face with a most magnificent experience. He declared that our recent action in Cuba completed an act of self sacrifice in the interests of freedom that no other country in the world dared to take. He said that no man had a right to consider our present problem or policy in the East without regard to our acts in Cuba, and that he was willing to trust the word and policy of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, and would rest all doubts of that war on the splendid letter of President Roosevelt to Bishop Lawrence. He believed it was the good purpose of God to trust the American people with Cuba and the Philippines and that the end would come in His own time and way.

After telling a laughable story pertinent to the alleged cruelties in the East, Mr. Davis urged the audience to trust our civic leaders, as our cause is right and the American army was there in the interests of freedom and justice. He, himself, feared neither militarism, commercialism nor any other kind of ism, as he trusted the heart of the American people.

Brief speeches were made by Miss Marie Groth, President of the Daughters of Veterans and by Rev. W. M. Mick, who responded for the Post, and after the singing of America by the audience, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Webb of Needham.

Very little time is being wasted by the members of the General Court in these days, for with the coming of warm weather comes also a feeling of unrest on the part of legislators, who desire to be attending to their private business, and perhaps, in some cases to their political future, and so feel that the necessity of spending whole

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in looks. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wish to thank you for the good your medicine have done me," writes Mrs. Mae Brown, of Canton, Fulton Co., Ill. "I was troubled with female weakness and suffered with several different doctors. They did not seem to help me; indeed I got worse all the time. I had ulceration and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad drain, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE WABAN LOCATION.

The favorable report by the Committee on Public Franchises, of a location to the Waltham Street Railway Company, through Lower Falls and Waban, on certain conditions regarding the widening and construction of streets, will occasion much comment.

We will not discuss at this time the wisdom of granting a location to a competing company within the territory now served by the consolidated Newton companies. A question which is of more interest, we take it, to those directly concerned in the street railway business, than to the general public. But we do desire, at this time to present the view of the matter as it will undoubtedly appeal to the average taxpayer, affecting the financial condition of the City of Newton.

The location as reported, requires the city to pay all the expense of drainage in the streets which it is proposed to widen and rebuild. This involves not only the construction of surface drains and catchbasins, but also the building of adequate outlets either to the river or to some convenient brook. At present Concord, Beacon and Woodward streets are practically country roads, partly without sidewalks, and with absolutely no system of drainage. The widening of these streets, the location of a car track, and the building of sidewalks, will naturally confine the surface water (now soaking naturally away), to the limits of the new street.

While the expense of the whole of this work has not yet been estimated, it was reported last year that the expense in Beacon street alone would be $20,000. With Concord and Woodward streets added, this estimate may easily reach $60,000.

We earnestly protest against any proposition which entails any such expense upon the city at this time. The land damages and drainage of Boylston street will figure about $30,000, and must be met immediately. Steps have already been taken towards a new fire station at Chestnut Hill, involving an expense of nearly $20,000, and the improvement of Laundry brook at Newtonville, at an outlay of over $10,000, also demands prompt attention. With a debt limit of about $100,000 we submit that the city is in no condition to enter upon any street railway enterprises involving expense to the taxpayers.

There is nothing in the situation to warrant the claim that there is a strong popular demand for this line of railway at present. It is also certain that this location will always be of value from a street railway standpoint, and consequently as much of a valuable asset to the city in the future as at present.

It would seem therefore, that the city has absolutely nothing to lose by deferring this matter until some company will take this location without any expense to the taxpayers whatever, or until the city itself is in a better financial condition than at present.

While it may seem a far cry to the September caucuses, the hard fact is very much in evidence that the lines are tightening rapidly in the matter of candidates for the lieutenant governorship nomination of the Republican party. General Curtis Guild, Jr., is the most prominent candidate, and is practically sure of the support of the friends who carried half the city for him three years ago. In addition, General Guild will receive the support of the friends of Mr. Bates, and while it is early to make political predictions, it seems very likely that he will receive the entire support of this city.

The school committee has granted a hearing to the remonstrants against the continuance of the one session plan in the Bigelow district on Wednesday, June 12th, at 7.30 p. m., and a strong case will be presented to that board.

The public were considerably excited last week over the importation of a case of small pox into the city.

While there was a technical violation of the law in the matter, the cases have been carefully looked after by the health authorities, and the indignation has greatly subsided.

At 10.30 the members of the alumni and friends of the Institution gathered in the First Baptist church of Newton Centre, where they were addressed by Pres. William Jewett Tucker, D.D. L.L.D., of Dartmouth College.

He spoke on "Some of the Undercurrents of Insufficiently Used Ministries in the Modern Church."

At 12 noon a class meeting of the alumni was held, which was followed at 1 by the customary alumni dinner held in Sturtevant hall, followed by addresses from the alumni and guests, and the election of three trustees.

At 4.45 there was a memorial tree planting by the Class of 1877, followed by an outdoor service. Wednesday evening at the First church, Rev. Henry Crocker, '70, of Chester, Vt., delivered the annual oration before the alumni association.

The unfurling of a flag from a staff on Colby hall at 4.30 was part of the impressive exercises in charge of Rev. Everett D. Burr, pastor of the Newton Centre Baptist church. A ceremony of equal interest was the dedication of "Pilgrim path," which skirts the brow of Institution hill for three-fourths of a mile.

In this connection there were addresses by Rev. W. H. Pinkham of Watertown, Rev. Ira Hardy of Acadia college and Pres. Wood. G. A. Gordh of the senior class read an original poem.

Memorial trees were planted near Colby hall by members of the class of '77 with appropriate exercises.

Small Pox in Newton.

Last Thursday afternoon, notice was received by the board of health of two cases of small pox in Ward 7. One being Dr. F. L. McIntosh and the other Dr. Houghton of Winchester. It appears that Dr. Houghton called Dr. McIntosh in consultation for a suspicious case in Winchester, which was later declared to be small pox by the Boston expert, Dr. Shea. Dr. Houghton and Dr. McIntosh were both indisposed about the same time, and Dr. Keith was consulted. At his suggestion the residence of Dr. McIntosh was taken for a hospital, and Dr. Houghton driven over from Winchester to Newton in his own carriage. The two patients are now under police quarantine, and as both cases are light, Dr. Keith's services are not needed. Two nurses and an immune complete the household, as the family of Dr. McIntosh left the house before there was any danger of contagion.

There was considerable popular indignation expressed about the village of Newton late last week, but as the facts became known much sympathy has developed for Dr. McIntosh, who has but recently resumed practice after a long sickness.

GENERAL GUILD

Delivers An Eloquent Address

At Auburn's Union Patriotic Service.

An intensely interesting service was held in the Auburn Congregational church last Sunday afternoon, the occasion being the annual patriotic service always held in this village.

General Curtis Guild, Jr., delivered an eloquent address which was frequently applauded and he held an informal reception at the close.

General Guild was escorted from the station by the Chas. Ward Post, G. A. R., and the Clavin Guards, and the church was crowded.

Rev. Mr. Southgate presided, Rev. Mr. Mattison led the responsive reading, Rev. Mr. Worth made the prayer and Bishop Mallien pronounced the benediction. Music was furnished by the Williams school, under direction of Mr. H. M. Walton, and taps were sounded at the close by Bugler English.

Mr. Guild's address was a study of the American soldier. He said in part:

"The bravery of the American in the field lives not only in memories of detached deeds of daring, not only in the history of the victories of Grant or Sheridan or Thomas or Sherman, but in the cold figures of muster rolls.

Grateful France and German keep painters and sculptors busy at monuments of their heroes, yet the heaviest loss in killed and wounded incurred in any battle of the Franco-Prussian war was sustained by the Third Westphalian regiment at the battle of Mars-la-Tour, where they left just one-half their number on the field.

Every schoolboy "speaks" Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade," yet the losses in killed and wounded in that famous folly were but two hundred and forty-seven out of six hundred and seventy-three.

Set against this arithmetical test of bravery the history of the Twenty-fifth Massachusetts Infantry at Cold Harbor, where of three hundred and two present only eighty-seven passed the fiery ordeal unscathed; or that of the Twelfth Massachusetts Infantry, who left on the field of Antietam seven men out of every ten that marched into the battle. Turn the page, in justice to our gallant foes, and learn that at the next roll call after Antietam, out of the two hundred and twenty-six in the First Texas Infantry, but forty voices answered "Here."

British bravery at Balaklava, glorious as it always must be in military history, was eclipsed not once, but a hundred times, by nameless American heroes whom no poet has sung and whose daring, already half forgotten, is chronicled merely by a number and the name of a State. The charge of the Light Brigade was a mistake and failed. The charge of the First Minnesota at Gettysburg was the deliberate sacrifice of a regiment to save an army, and it succeeded. The regiment was alone and unsupported. To gain time for bringing up reinforcements it was flung forward alone by Hancock against an advancing Confederate brigade. The devoted little band went forward with a cheer. They struck, checked and dissipated the attacking column, and when the bleeding fragment came backward to our lines the battle flags of the Confederacy came too in their hands. Two hundred and fifty-two shared in that glorious charge. Forty-seven brought back the captured colors.

There are no tales like these to tell of the war of '98. It was a war against a foreign foe, in which the son of the man who fought in Jackson's "foot cavalry" and the son of him who died in Cushing's battery at Gettysburg fought side by side. The Civil War was the most desperate struggle in history for the very reason that the valor not of one side, but of both sides, was American.

In these struggles, in every struggle, we have a right to be proud of the record of Massachusetts. The old Commonwealth, that fired the shot heard round the world, still maintains her prestige. As the first blood shed in the Civil War came from the veins of the men of Massachusetts, so in 1898, the first regiment to report, armed and equipped, that went to duty, to defend their country was the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery. In this very year, too, the one regiment picked from the whole volunteer militia as the most efficient in the country, the first regiment of militia in the whole history of the United States to be detailed to share grand maneuvers with the regular army, is again the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery. It was Washington who said "To be prepared for war is the most effective means of securing peace." In that spirit and in that spirit only can war be justified in this century. Not Ares, but Athens, not war for war's sake, but war as the last and most desperate resort, as the defence of liberty, law, order and civilization, can ever be assented to by the American people.

War is indeed hell and peace is the greatest of all blessings, but there is a peace that is worse than war. There is the peace of strength and the most efficient in this century, the peace of the brave man and the peace of the coward, the peace of honor and the peace of infamy, the peace that fears not war and the peace that is bought by dishonor.

We are steadily progressing towards universal peace. Every year brings it nearer. The time has not yet come, however, when we can dispense with the soldier. The peace that foreshadows ruin is the peace at any price.

When the broadsword and the plume of the trained soldier fenced

Roman law and order, civilization and human happiness stood secure in that defense, but when the mercantile and the pleasure-seeker dragged on the sword arm of the fighting man and sought to buy peace with money from the barbarians rather than to enforce it by the disciplined legionary, Rome fell and the Dark Ages enveloped Europe like a pall. The fate of Byzantium was as the fate of Rome. The love of luxury, the love of money making, grudging even the pay of the Varangians, and Christianity acknowledged in its shame that the triumphant Crescent on Constantinople shone above at least a manlier race than those who in the Empire of the East had disgraced the Cross.

Let us not, then, in our memories of the past forget the duties of the present or the possible needs of the future. Men have needlessly died in every war in the United States because our antiquated system of promotion in the Army for seniority alone, ignoring the claims of merit, often sets the least competent in high places. Men have died because enough officers have not been trained in feeding and moving great bodies of troops. Men have died because with a national militia law, unchanged since 1792, there are less than a dozen States that maintain a reserve line trained in camp life and ready for immediate duty.

Care for the soldier in war is as common as neglect of the soldier in peace.

We, of the United States need no huge armies with which to front our destiny. We do need the best army in the world. We spend a hundred and fifty millions a year for the soldiers who have worn the blue. Can we afford to be parsimonious with the men who now uphold the colors? The philanthropists of the country spent millions to cure suffering caused by lack of preparation for war. Shall the nation hesitate to spend freely for preparation that in the next emergency such suffering may never again take place?

We proudly boast our descent from men who fought in other days. We dedicate holidays, we raise monuments in their memory, but the monument that marks the altar of their sacrifice is as void of value as the lichen grown monoliths of the forgotten races of Britain and Brittany if the suffering of the soldier who fought to save his country yesterday blinds us to the needs of him who fights for her today and yet shall fight through glorious tomorrows.

State House Letter.

days in listening to tiresome debates is an irksome task.

As forecast in this correspondence, Representative Dana took the floor in the House last week to oppose the resolve to provide for an amendment of the Constitution requiring the submission to the people upon petition of 25,000 voters of measures pending before the General Court. Once more he carried his point, and the resolve was rejected.

The week began with further negotiations between Director Winsor of the elevated railway and the sub-committee of the committee on metropolitan affairs which has been busily engaged in drawing a bill to provide for the construction of the Washington street subway. The real situation was that Senator Jones chairman of this committee, backed by the associated board of trade, which has as its spokesman, President James Richard Carter, and reasonably sure of the backing of the Governor, had decided upon a bill to provide for the construction of a two track subway through Washington street, to be leased to the Boston elevated railway for a term of years to be decided by Commissioner Bishop and his associates on the railroad board at a rental, also to be decided by them, their decision to be submitted to the people of Boston for ratification next fall. There is no doubt whatever that unless this Legislature adjourns without doing anything for the subway problem, the bill which will be enacted into law and signed by the Governor will be a compromise measure.

The Senate last week referred to the next General Court the remnant of the Luce bill to provide for direct nominations in cities for candidates for offices, the Senate and House of Representatives. It seems almost a pity that this should have been done. Ever since Representative Langford of Newton took up the issue of direct nomination for senators, the cause has been growing throughout the state. The principle was adopted, so far as Boston was concerned, last year, and the present delegation of nine senators from Suffolk County were nominated by direct vote. They are, as a whole, so pleased with the result, that in behalf of Boston a demand was made for a reconsideration, and that a bill be passed to provide for the nomination of representatives in Boston by direct vote in caucuses. It is very evident that this change in our caucus laws cannot be delayed many months, and so it seems almost useless to have thrown down the Luce bill.

The House has negatively the rejection of the bill to compensate the town of Clinton for damages through the construction of the metropolitan water system, notwithstanding the recommendation of the committee on ways and means. In all probability this bill will fall before it reaches the Governor, simply because it is felt that there is force in the argument that further time should be given for studying the situation and determining just how much the town is entitled to. This does not settle the question, for it is generally conceded that Clinton must be properly reimbursed by the metropolitan water district for whatever her losses are through the construction of the Wachusett Reservoir and dam.

The bill to permit Newton to construct a sewer in Beacon street, Boston, was favorably reported in the House on Monday.

The Enlarged Sunday Post

The Boston Sunday Post is proving itself to be the most hustling, wide-awake and enterprising Sunday news paper in the whole of New England. The latest move of the publishers is the regular publication of an additional eight-page supplement in colors called the magazine section. This section consists of eight pages entirely clear of advertisements and devoted to splendid feature stories of absorbing and timely interest, illustrated in beautiful color work and splendid halftones, printed from electrotypes which bring out the pictures almost as clearly as though they were photographs. This fine section is absolutely in addition to the great paper which has been given regularly every Sunday. Not a feature which the paper has had heretofore is left out or curtailed to make room for the new section.

There is printed every Sunday the magnificent eight-page color fun section, which contains nothing but comic pictures of the highest class and humorous reading matter by the best writers of the time. In addition to these two great supplements the Sunday Post issues an eight-page news annex section, a four-page sporting section and an eight-page section "for the home," which contains intensely interesting stories for all classes of women. Altogether the Sunday Post give to its readers 44 pages of the best reading matter, finest color work and nicest picture work of any paper in New England.

CHAPTER 12, SECTION 16, REVISED LAWS.

The Assessors, by one or more of their number, or by one or more Assistant Assessors, shall, in the month of May or June, in each year, visit every building in their respective cities and towns, and after diligent inquiry, make true and perfect lists, as near as they can ascertain the same, the name, age, occupation, and residence, on the first day of May in the current year, and the residence on the first day of May in the preceding year of every male person, twenty years of age or upwards, residing in their respective cities and towns liable to assessment for a poll tax; and shall also, at the residences of the women voters whose names are contained in the list transmitted to said Assessors by the Registrar, according to the provisions of section forty-four of this statute, whether such women voters are resident electors, and shall thereupon make a list of the women voters so found by them.

MORTGAGED REAL ESTATE.

CHAPTER 12, SECTION 45, REVISED LAWS.

SECTION 45. A mortgagee or mortgagee of real estate may bring in to the assessors of the city or town in which it lies within the time prescribed by the notice transmitted to the assessors, a statement under oath of the amount secured thereon or on each separate parcel thereof, with the name and residence of every holder of an interest therein as mortgagee or mortgagee. If such property is situated in two or more places, or if a recorded mortgage includes two or more estates or parts of an estate as security for one sum, such statement shall include an estimate of the interest of the mortgagee in each estate or part of an estate. The assessors shall, from such statement or otherwise, ascertain the proportionate interests of the mortgagee or mortgagees respectively in said estate, and shall assess the same accordingly. If, in any year, such statement is not brought in, the tax for that year on such real estate shall not be invalid merely for the reason that the interest of the mortgagee therein has not been assessed.

EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS AND TRUSTEES OF ESTATES.

Persons holding estates in trust, whether for minors or otherwise, are particularly requested to furnish the Assessors with an estimate of the amount of such estates, together with statements of the nature, residence and amount paid to the several parties interested in the estate who are inhabitants of the city or town, and in default of such notice will be held to the penalty provided by law. - Revised Laws, Chap. 12, Sect. 23, Clause 7.

SHIPS AND VESSELS.

Shipping and business income are not taxable to a ship or vessel which is owned by an individual, and whose owner is a resident of the city or town in which the ship or vessel is engaged in the foreign carrying trade, or is engaged in sections 7 and 8 of Chapter 12 of the Revised Laws, for the form of return required to obtain exemption from taxation upon the valuation of such property. Returns for such ships and vessels must be made not later than June 1.

PERSONAL ESTATE.

Any person bringing in a list of all his taxable personal property, will be assessed upon the valuation thereof, and any one neglecting to furnish the Assessors with such list, within the time above specified, will be deemed at a legal meeting of the board of Assessors, agreeably to the law of the Commonwealth. All persons will take notice that statements of personal property must be in writing, and subscribed on or before the first day of June, and the personal property of all taxable persons must be estimated by the board, notwithstanding a verbal statement of or informal written statement in any of the Assessors. - Chap. 12, Sect. 41, 43, 46, Revised Laws.

When a person has failed to bring in a list or schedule of all his taxable property, in conformity to this notice, no abatement of a tax so assessed upon such person for personal property can be granted, unless such tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the amount which would have been assessed to that person on personal estate, if he had seasonably brought in said list; and if said tax exceeds by more than fifty per cent. the said amount, the abatement will be only of the excess above the said fifty per cent. - Chap. 12, Sect. 74, Revised Laws.

Blank schedules will be furnished on application to the office or to either of the Assessors. No schedule will be sent from the office except on application.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Two "Spills" on the River.

Last Sunday saw one of the biggest crowds on the first day of the week in years on the Charles river. Two accidents occurred, but without serious results. About 5:15 two young men were thrown into the water between Fox Island and Forest Grove by the capsizing of their canoe. Patrolman J. J. Grady of the river patrol found them in an exhausted condition clinging to the craft. They were taken to the Waltham pumping station and later sent to their homes. They would not give their names.

Samuel Meitz and Harry Harris, both of Salem street, Boston, had a spill off Norumbega park about 6 o'clock. They were dragged out by Patrolman Chaisson and were none the worse for their experience.

BOYLSTON STREET.

Work of Widening Now In Progress.

Brief Description of This Important Undertaking.

The entire city is interested in the great improvement now taking place in Boylston street. Here it will be remembered, the Boston and Worcester Street Railway Company is engaged in the construction of a ninety foot boulevard, with two roadways, gutters and sidewalks, and a central reservation, in return for the location of a double track for its electric railway.

The company bears the expense of the entire work to a finished subgrade, with the exception of the drainage and a portion of the land damages, borne by the city.

The undertaking is estimated to cost upwards of $225,000, and a visit to the work gives a comprehensive idea of its magnitude.

Entering the work from the Brookline end, where the street is but 65 feet in width, one notes that the width in Newton is 90 feet, and that the double roadways, one on each side of a central reservation, and the outlying sidewalks, are fairly well outlined. Careful investigation will also show the shallow depressions in the center space, intended for the sleepers and rails for electric cars.

A short distance from the Brookline line, a gang of city employees are at work constructing a culvert for a small stream bearing the euphonious title of Saw Mill Brook. The grades of the new Boylston street will not allow the construction of the usual arched cut culverts, and the ingenuity of City Engineer Farnham has devised a flat top of concrete, strengthened with iron rods.

For about a half mile the street passes through some beautiful woods, filled with rocks and boulders in picturesque confusion. Work in this district is fairly well along, drills being at work in but one or two places, although the places requiring any considerable amount of filling have not yet been touched.

At the village of Thompsonville, the work appears to be in chaotic condition, although the men and horses, steam boilers and tip carts are all at their proper tasks. Here men can be seen drilling holes in the ledges which crop out in every direction, there, the drilled holes are being charged with the deadly dynamite, and over yonder the broken stone is being carted to convenient dumping places.

At this point the houses are quite numerous, but the plan does not touch those on the south side. On the north side, however, they have all been removed to new locations. Farther down the hill, the houses cease, and the men are busily engaged in grubbing up the stumps and roots of the numerous trees which have been cut down in the onward path of improvement.

The former steep grade of the hill has been partially overcome and the hollow at its base has been filled several feet.

The construction track from the gravel pit on Needham street, ends at this point.

One also notes the roots of a magnificent elm, which the irresistible dynamite has shown to have grown directly upon the top of a ledge, the tangled bunch of roots not being over two feet in thickness, and closely matted together.

In the meadow at the foot of this hill and extending to Newton Highlands, the filling has been nearly accomplished, and a fair idea of the completed work can be obtained.

At Winchester street the construction track leaves Boylston street on its way to Needham street gravel pit, where a steam shovel fills its cars with one scoop. Between Winchester street and the railroad crossing, but little has been accomplished in the matter of street construction on account of the tracks of the Commonwealth Ave. Street Railway Co. about which negotiations are now in progress.

Across the railroad, the old street was quite wide and but little change is noted with the exception of the loss of the beautiful trees opposite the truck house. Commissioner Ross has tried to remedy the matter by setting out some healthy young trees on the new lines.

In the valley just west of Woodward street, one of the most important engineering problems was encountered, in caring for the water of a small brook which crosses at this point. The soil is a beautiful mud. The kind that sticks closer than a brother to rubber boots, and reminds one of the old fashioned pig pens of the country farm. In preparing a foundation for the necessary culvert, piles were driven to a depth of over thirty feet in parallel lines and capped and bolted together, thus forming a basis upon which to construct the culvert.

The railroad bridge will not be widened to correspond to the widening of the street and the south roadway will have to be abandoned and turned across the center reservation at this place.

Ascending the hill into the Upper Falls, the work is being busily pushed on the Pierce estate where most of the widening is to be made. This hill is by far the most expensive part of the improvement as far as land damages is concerned, the new lines coming close to the residences on the south side of the street, and the lower grade making the new approaches to the houses a difficult matter.

Down the hill on the westerly side, the pleasant old fashioned cottages on Richardson place are almost buried by the change in grade, although the grade of Boylston street itself has been greatly improved. Preparations are being made to move the Sullivan house at the corner of Chestnut street, and work can then be brought to a point within sight of the river.

Beyond Chestnut street, considerable trouble will probably be had with one owner whose house stands in the line of the improvement and who has refused to settle, and with the Metropolitan Park Commission, which controls the river banks.

The work is being done by the T. Stuart & Son company, the well known Newton contractors, and is to be finished by August 1st, 1902.

Patriotism Today.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 4th.

At the 76th annual meeting of the Congregational Home Missionary Society, this morning, Mrs. Helena F. Lamson of Auburn, Mass., spoke concerning "Patriotism Today." She said that Patriotism today means not only loyalty to our fatherland and gratitude that we are among its citizens, but also the clear vision of its extent and resources, and most of all a knowledge of our varied humanity and the needs of so great and so heterogeneous a population. We must know our greatness and also our perils. We are trying a tremendous experiment, one quite without precedent, to unite peoples and interests so many and so diverse under one democratic government, and our path is beset with dangers which the patriot must recognize. The isolation of remote country and frontier towns, the congestion of the cities, the inconceivable throngs of immigrants crowding into our ports, the great and too successful activity of the Mormon organization, the jealousy of labor and capital, the great monopolies, the illiteracy of some sections, are manifest dangers. More alarming is the disregard of law, and disrespect for lawmakers everywhere evident. Yet graver are the perils of losing our Sabbath, and the growing feeling of caste, the separation into class divisions, most fatal to the republican idea. Patriotism must see these perils that with utter and strenuous devotion we may help to escape them. We must give not only money but far more, and more costly, our own personal service. We may not be called to die for our country, but we are summoned to spend our lives for her, in striving to make the Kingdom of God come. Only as Christians are Christlike can the republic be safe, only as we see life as it really is can we be the lights of the world, only as we know that our treasure is in Heaven can we put to shame the greediness and covetousness which threaten our very foundations. Our greatest danger is in the worldliness and indifference of Christians. It is still true that if we follow the Master we must take up the cross, and only in so doing can we help to make His Kingdom come.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre.—The crowded and enthusiastic audiences that, regardless of weather conditions, are attending the performances of "Prince of Pilsen," at the Tremont Theatre furnish the best of evidence that Messrs. Pixley and Luder have made one of the most important additions to the musical comedy stage recorded in many seasons, and there is reason to accord them the first prize for execution in their particular line of endeavor as against every other combination of genius known to the American stage. Mr. Pixley's admirable lyrics stand out conspicuously in the new piece, as well as his never failing wit. Each of the numbers deals sensibly with the story, without losing poetic charm. Of Mr. Luder's music it need only be stated that new lustre has been added to his name by every number in the piece. There are few, if any, of these catchy gems that will not readily find their way to the street organs and the lips of the whistlers, and no greater tribute could be paid to the genius of a creator of this class of melody. Manager Savage's lavish expenditure of money and numerous evidences of a dignified effort to place "Prince of Pilsen" before the public in the most attractive manner ever observed in musical comedy is sure to be rewarded, and it is safe to predict a long and prosperous career for this important contribution to the mirth and music of the stage. It will be presented at the Tremont until further notice every evening and at matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

D. R.

Memorial Day exercises of the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., of Newton, were held in the old burying ground, Centre street, Newton, May 30th, at 10.30 a. m. Twenty-five members and friends met together to decorate the tomb and do honor to the memory of Gen. and Sarah Hull. Mrs. Curtis Smith, one of the Chapters vice regents, called the meeting to order, and Rev. A. L. Hudson offered prayer. Mrs. Smith made a few appropriate remarks and said in part that in the struggle to establish American Independence, the records assure us Newton did not fail to furnish her quota of soldiers, and of those who returned 36 were buried within this sacred enclosure.

Mrs. Smith then read a letter from a granddaughter of Sarah Hull expressing her regret at not being able to be present at the service. Mr. Hudson followed with a stirring address on our Revolutionary Heroes, and the historic work the Chapter was accomplishing. After the singing of America, the company dispersed.

Flag day, June 14, will be observed by the Chapter as follows: Members and friends meet at Park street elevated station at 9.30 a. m. for Squantum Inn. Returning in p. m. through Quincy Centre, then Quincy Adams to visit Chapter House.

Steam train to Boston 4.10 or 5.10. Probable expense of trip $1.75. In case of rain, the party will go Monday, June 10th. Please reply before June 10th, to Miss H. L. Wells, 269 Franklin street, Newton, chairman of Outing Committee.

Beginning last Monday, a car leaves Nonantum square at 6.41 a. m. and every half hour for Auburndale via Washington street, Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street. The Norumbega Park cars leave Nonantum square every half hour during the afternoon and every fifteen minutes during the evening.

The Lake street car from Crafts street has been abandoned, the Crafts street car making its terminal at Newtonville square.

HELD HISTORICAL SERVICES.

EDIFICE OF FIRST CONGREGATIONAL SOCIETY OF NEWTON CENTRE TO BE REPLACED BY MORE MODERN STRUCTURE.

Interesting historical services of particular significance to the members of the First Congregational Society of Newton Centre, held in that church Sunday afternoon. A large congregation, among whom were many friends from visiting churches, was present.

The services included a special musical program and addresses by the Rev. Mr. Holmes, a former pastor of the church; the Rev. Calvin Cutler of Auburndale, the Rev. H. J. Patrick of Newtonville and the pastor. Prayer was offered by Dr. Wellman, who preached the dedicatory sermon when the church was enlarged about 35 years ago.

The building, which was erected in 1847 and has several times been enlarged, will be replaced by a more modern structure. The work will commence about June 9. During July and August the congregation will meet with the Methodist and Baptist societies of Newton Centre, union services having been arranged.

Value of a Vacation

The value of a vacation cannot be overestimated, and for the great masses of people it is wisely taken in the summer time. Indeed, what time is better for a season of rest from care and labor than when the mountains, forests and fields are clothed in all their wealth of cool green beauty? All nature smiles and in holiday dress welcomes the weary toiler. The city offers no such joy to the multitude with its foul air and wilderness of brick and stone, radiating by night the heat absorbed by day. The summer vacation not only restores the body to a portion of its primal power, but it refreshes the overworked brain and brightens and helps to lengthen one's days. Vermont is perhaps the ideal vacation spot for city people, and a new book describing the lakes and mountains and country resorts of the state, with 200 fine half tone pictures will settle the vacation problem for you at once. For copy of book enclose 4c. in stamps for postage to T. H. Hanley, N. E. P. A. Central Vermont Ry., 306 Washington street, Boston. "After all there is no place like Vermont in the summer time."

MR. POWERS

Advocates Protection Of
The President.Extract From His Recent Speech in Congress.

I want to say one word with reference to one provision in this bill which in my mind is not sufficiently drastic. I refer to the provision that wherever an assault is made upon the President of the United States with an intent to take his life it shall be punished by imprisonment, and imprisonment only. It seemed to me at the time this bill was under consideration in committee that whenever an assault is made upon the President of the United States, with a deliberate and premeditated purpose to take the life of the chief ruler of the people, the punishment ought to be death; and I suggested at the time—and it is my purpose when this bill comes up under the five-minute rule to offer an amendment—that wherever an assault of this kind is committed upon the President of the United States it shall be punished either by death or by imprisonment for life, as the jury trying the case may recommend.

I can understand perfectly well that there may be an assault made upon the President of the United States which will absolutely incapacitate him for the further performance of his duty, but he may survive the attack—may linger on for years; that blow has had its purpose and has incapacitated him for the performance of any further duty, yet under the provisions of this bill the punishment in such a case is to be only imprisonment—imprisonment for not less than twenty years. I feel that the jury should have the right to take into consideration all the circumstances under which the act was committed; that they should have the right to take under consideration the extent of the injuries inflicted, and if they see fit to recommend punishment by death that they should have the right to recommend such punishment.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I want to say one word with reference to the Senate bill. I firmly believe that the House bill is a far better bill than the Senate bill. I trust that this House will substitute the House bill for the Senate bill. I believe that there are important questions of constitutional law connected with many of the provisions of the Senate bill, and which are of such a nature that we can not with safety pass that bill. It is not necessary that this House should undertake to pass a bill so drastic as to be pronounced unconstitutional. We can protect the operations of the Government and keep well within our constitutional limits, and I feel that this House bill should for that reason be substituted for the Senate bill.

There is one provision of the Senate bill which has caused more or less discussion throughout the country, and so far as I know has been received with some favor. It is the provision that the Secretary of War shall detail a body guard from the Regular Army for the protection of the President. Now, I want to say that this idea, though it may be novel, did not originate with any member of Congress, either of this branch or the other. That idea originated some time in the early part of the year, and first appeared in an address delivered by a very learned and scholarly gentleman, who is a judge of the circuit court in the first district, in an address delivered before the bar association of the State of New Hampshire. He undertook to demonstrate in that address that we can, by providing a body guard, absolutely protect the President of the United States; and he referred, by way of example, to the provisions which are made to protect the sovereigns of the different nations of Europe.

Now, if we have come to that point where we are going to undertake to legislate for the absolute protection of the person of the President, there are other and better ways to legislate than by guard system proposed under the provisions of the bill. Why, we might go to the extent of saying that the President during his term of office should live in a fortress surrounded by soldiers; that no one should have access to the President but trusted subordinates, and that they should be searched before they enter therein. My friend, I think it was from Maine, (Mr. Littlefield), suggested that we might go to the extent of having a little fortress or castle upon wheels, which could be moved throughout the country like a cage, for the protection of the President.

To my mind the whole idea is un-American and uncalled for. I do not expect that if this bill, if enacted into a law, is going to have weight only by reason of the penal statutes that it contains, but it is going to have its moral force upon the American people. It is going to be an expression of the public opinion of this country that the people believe in stamping out anarchy and in stamping out every sentiment in favor of the forcible overthrow of the Government of the United States or the government of any country. It stands as an expression of public opinion, and Mr. Chairman, what is the foundation of the Government of this nation, but the expression of public opinion? Why, our Federal Constitution and the constitution of every State in this Union can be changed, directly or indirectly, through the ballot box. The people are sovereigns. If they want to change their Constitution, they have got the right to do it. If they want to change the constitution of a State, they have the authority, through the ballot box, acting either directly or indirectly, to change it; and they can change every constitution, every Federal statute, and every State statute through the power which they have in the manhood suffrage which exists in every State in this Union.

Now, it is just so in the case of the countries across the sea. In England the landed estates have controlled the politics of that country for six centuries. Not so with us. We have no property qualification and we have no educational qualification in any State excepting a few, and there the educational qualification is one which a school boy of 10 years of age could easily comply with. Why, when these anarchists talk about the forcible overthrow of government they do not take into consideration that this Government exists at the pleasure of the people, and whenever the people want to change this form of government they have the right and authority to do it. Whenever they want to change our Constitution they may do it.

Whenever they want to change any law they may do it, and the people, it seems to me, in this country have demanded that there shall be a law—a law, not only because it will have its effect by reason of the penal elements that the law will contain, but because it will go upon our books as the public expression of 80,000,000 of people that they will not entertain and they will not tolerate a sentiment that looks to the forcible overthrow of the Government of the people, and that is exactly where we stand on this proposition. We say that there is not the slightest reason to suppose that these anarchists or nihilists, as they were formerly called, who fifty years ago came into existence in Russia under a form of oppressive government, are going to get a foothold in America. Why, our public school system will sooner or later overthrow them. Public sentiment will overthrow them. Last year the United States expended for the free compulsory education of its children more money than was expended by Great Britain, Germany, France, Spain, Italy and Belgium combined. What does that mean?

It means that the Government of the United States stands prepared to educate an intelligent citizenship, and an intelligent citizenship knows that the highest personal liberty must exist in a good government; that a good government is that government which takes from no individual any more of his rights and privileges than are absolutely necessary for the protection of his life, his liberty and his property. I trust, Mr. Chairman, that the bill which has been framed by the House committee, with all its safeguards, with all its provisions—that of looking after immigration—with its provision for undertaking to ferret out this sentiment against government wherever it exists, and more than that, with its provisions carried to that extent that they will accomplish the purpose and at the same time do not interfere with the liberty of speech or with the liberty of the press, will become a law.

In a few years from now we will look back upon this scene and will regard it a remarkable circumstance that after more than a century of free republican government in America Congress was forced to take into consideration the enactment of law to better protect its chief ruler against assassination by those who would strike him down in the name of liberty.

The country today simply asks this Congress to put upon the statute books some expression of the sovereignty and the will of the people, which they ask shall be enforced to its farthest for the protection of our institutions, for the protection of freedom and liberty, and for the advancement of mankind.

(Applause.)

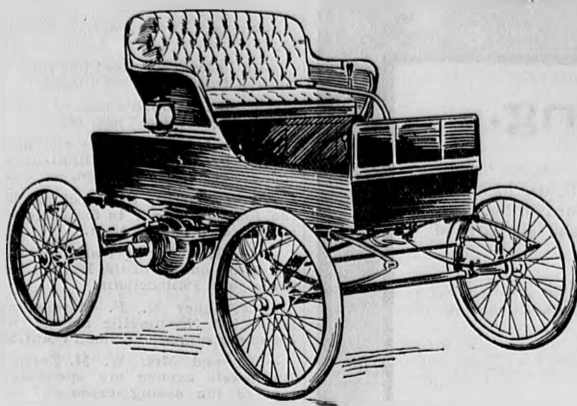

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Commencement Program One Of Great Interest.

The first part of the program was held in the gymnasium and began with the singing of the class song. The president's welcome, delivered by Miss Joanna Frances Deering, followed. The roll call came next and then Miss Elizabeth Ball Welty read "To Those Who Follow." A song was given and then followed the reading by Miss Marion Emma Mann of "The Last Will and Testament of 1902." The class prophecy was given by Miss Mary Antoinette Ramsdell and Miss Annie Mae Pinkham followed with "Lifting Better up to Best." The farewell was said by Kindly Take Notice that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is of great benefit to those sufferers from nasal catarrh who cannot inhale freely through the nose, but must treat themselves by spraying. Ely's Liquid Cream Balm differs in form, but not medicinally from the Cream Balm which has stood for years at the head of remedies for catarrh. It may be used in any nasal atomizer. The price, including a spraying tube, is 75¢ cts. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

OUR REPRESENTATIVES.

Last fall, the republican representative convention, endorsed the recommendation that the present custom of retiring both representatives at the end of the two years of service, be discontinued, and that one of the present representatives be given another renomination, with a new colleague, in order that the city might always have the influence at the State House that an experienced legislator always commands.

Mr. Bullard's recent letter, being in the same line, withdrawing his own name and urging that of his colleague, Mr. Dana, will probably therefore receive the unqualified approval of the influential voters of the city.

Mr. Dana has obtained a high rank at the State House and as a third year man next winter will be in a strong position to advance the interests of the city.

Mr. Bullard, too, deserves the hearty thanks of his constituents for his sacrifice of personal interests and his faithful work during the last two years.

While it is early yet to predict the action of the fall caucuses, it is extremely probable that the south side of the city will claim the nomination, and will present as its candidate, the name of ex-Alderman Edgar W. Warren of Newton Highlands.

The annual meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation takes place tomorrow afternoon in one of the most beautiful spots in this vicinity.

The friends of Mr. W. W. Rawson, the well known seed man of Arlington, are at work in his interests for the republican nomination for councillor in this district.

City Hall Notes.

The water department has laid a fire service across Charles river, to the Riverside Recreation Grounds.

The street department is resurfacing the Commonwealth avenue boulevard.

Street Commissioner Ross has purchased an automobile.

Firemen's Memorial Sunday.

Memorial Sunday was observed last Sunday by both active and veteran firemen of this city. At 9 about 20 of the former, headed by Chief Walter B. Randlett, left the Newtonville truck house in a barge and visited cemeteries of this city, Waltham and Needham, where graves were decorated. At the same hour a delegation from the Newton Veteran Firemen performed the same service in memory of departed comrades.

Recital.

A very successful recital was given by the pupils of Miss Stella M. Haynes at Huntington Chambers Theatre, on the afternoon of Saturday, June 7.

The program, which comprised numerous literary selections, grave and gay, was finely rendered by the young ladies who find in Miss Haynes a able and inspiring an instructor. Miss Haynes is well remembered in Newton, where she was for years a popular teacher in the Adams and Claflin schools. She is now principal of a school of elocution, physical culture and dramatic art at 154 Tremont street, Boston.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

The Newton C. E. Union will hold a public meeting with the Lowry C. E. Society of Nonantum, Monday evening, June 10th. The prominent thought of the evening will be along the lines of Christian activity. The Rev. Edwin F. Snell of the West Newton Baptist church will tell "How an Active Missionary Interest can be Developed in Young People." Miss Martha Hitchcock of Newton will speak of "The Need of a more Active Interest in Bible Study," and Miss Estelle Cobb of Newton Highlands will talk about "The Need of a more Active Interest in Summer Work." It is needless to say that each of these subjects will be presented in a most helpful and inspiring manner. Light refreshments will be served during the social hour, which will follow the formal exercises. It is hoped that each society of the union will be well represented.

Newton Club.

Wednesday's "prom" was of an equally delightful character as the opening of the club's concert. Though a bit disagreeable, the chilly atmosphere was forgiven as every one felt fully repaid for coming, while the following program was given by the Salem Cadet band under Jean M. Missoud's direction:

Overture, "Si j'étais Roi." Adam Waltz, "The Little Duchess." de Koven

Selection "King Dodo." Luders Two Step, "Blackville Society." Franklin

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Mr. A. J. George of the Newton High school has one of the leading articles in June Atlantic monthly on Audrey de Vere. Mr. George knew him intimately and dedicated his volume of Wordsworth's Preface to him. De Vere was a singularly interesting character in the literary history of England during the last century.

A nine made up from the alumni will play the Newton High school team at 10 a. m. on June 17th, at the Cedar street grounds, Newton Centre.

NONANTUM.

—There will be a church lawn party for all on the grounds of Albert Frye, Bridge street, next Tuesday afternoon and evening with music and entertainment.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the North Evangelical church, Chapel street, next Sunday, preaching service with baptism of infants at 10.45 a. m. Sunday school concert and observance of the 36th anniversary at 6.30 p. m.

Combination Park.

With a pleasant day next Tuesday it is a certainty that Combination Park's present record for attendance will become a back number, for the program offered for the Seventeenth and the rest of the week seems to be one of great drawing power. As is usual on holidays, the performance on Tuesday will be continuous from 1 until 11 p. m.

The horse racing program for the day is made up of six events, four in the afternoon and two in the evening. Among the races will be a 2.17 class trot and pace, mile heats, best three in five; a 3 minute class for trotters, three half mile heats, and a free-for-all, trot and pace, three half mile heats.

A Grant, one of the cleverest of monologists, and Loyns and Crowley, the popular parodists, will head the vaudeville bill, which will also include two more acts.

This week's vaudeville show is extremely attractive.

On Saturday afternoon the school teachers' club of Roxbury, had a launch ride up the river, after which they took luncheon at the Woodland Park Hotel.

Last Friday evening on the lawns of the Woodland Park Hotel, the guests enjoyed the old-fashioned English game of bowls. They were divided into two teams, captained by Mrs. West and Miss Clara Lewis. Mrs. West's team was defeated by a score of 8 to 0.

Among the recent arrivals at the Woodland Park Hotel are: Dr. E. D. Leavitt, Butte, Montana; Mr. H. F. Douglass, Troy, O.; Mr. K. N. Allen, Plymouth, Mass.; Mrs. E. F. Cook-Row.

Miss Grace Marion Rowe, daughter of Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, of Institution avenue, Newton Centre, was married on Wednesday evening to Mr. Henry Webster Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller Cook, Jr., of Brockton. The ceremony was performed at 6 in the First Baptist meeting house, Rev. Everett D. Burr, the pastor, officiating. The interior of the edifice was beautified with elaborate decorations of daisies and ferns.

The bride was handsomely gowned in satin crepe de chine. Her only attendants were two little flower girls Priscilla H. Fowle and Dorothy Brewer.

There was no best man. The ushers were Dr. Maxwell Powers of White River, Vt., Rev. N. A. Merritt of Rahway, N. J., Eugene E. Pettie of Newtonville, Dr. Winthrop Hayes of Cambridge, Edgar B. Davis and C. Chester Eaton of Brockton.

A largely attended reception followed at the Rowe residence 83 Institution avenue, at which Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cook were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Rowe and Mr. and Mrs. M. Cook, Jr.

Following a short wedding trip the young couple will reside in Brockton.

Ferry-Dewing.

A pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. Nathan E. Dewing on 14 Oakland avenue, Auburn, Tuesday, June 10. Under a floral bell of roses and daisies Rev. Calvin Cutler united in marriage Miss Florence E. Dewing and Mr. Wm. G. Ferry of Braintree, Mass. The bride was attired in white muslin and carried bride roses, her attendants were her little brother and Miss Doris Mann as flower boy and girl. Mr. and Mrs. Ferry will visit New York and Washington, D. C., and on their return will reside in Holyoke, Mass.

Plant Line Changes Schedule

Saturday, June 14, the Olivette takes her place again on the Halifax Line. On this trip she will only go to Halifax in order to undergo her annual inspection by the Canadian steamboat inspector. The steamship Halifax will be transferred to the Tuesday schedule, leaving Boston Tuesday, June 17, and thereafter both of these ships will run through to Halifax, Hawkesbury and Charlottetown. Passengers for Sydney and the Bras d'Or Lakes will make close connection at Hawkesbury with the Bras d'Or Steamboat Co. There will be a new connection made this year at Hawkesbury with the Inverness & Richmond Railway for Lake Ainslie and the Margerie districts, and through tickets will be sold for the first time. Business has already commenced to move in large volume and no doubt the season will be a record breaker. A trip of fourteen hundred miles for eighteen dollars is certainly a drawing card. Those interested parties can get illustrated advertising at the Plant Line offices, 300 Washington street, or 20 Atlantic avenue, or they will be mailed on receipt of two cent stamps by J. A. Flanders, passenger agent, Boston.

Letter to E. B. Ricketson

Newton.

Dear Sir: What is lumber worth? "Depends on the lumber," you say. "What sort do you want?" "That's how some people talk about paint. They ask: 'What'll you paint my house for?'"

The Yankee answer is: "How do you want it painted? One coat? two coats? three coats? first-class or cheap?"

The proper answer is: "I want the best paint put on as it ought to be." That's Devco; but the usual answer is: "I want a good job; but I want it cheap." Which means: I want you to paint it for nothing. I want to be fooled.

Lead and oil is the costliest paint there is; not the best; it used to be best. Devco is best, since zinc came in; Devco lead and zinc.

Zinc toughens the lead and doubles its wear.

Zinc costs no more than lead; and we grind by machinery.

We have no patent on zinc; but nobody else is treating it right. Devco is your paint.

Yours truly,

F. W. Devco & Co.

Sam Powers' Puzzle.

Representative Sam Powers of Massachusetts, who is serving his first term in Congress, and by virtue of that fact and his personal popularity is the President of the Tantalus Club, had a story to tell the other day to illustrate his indecision upon the big questions of public policy which come up for consideration in the House.

"I come into the House," said Mr. Powers, "and I listen to some man making a speech upon one side of an important proposition, and he is so eloquent and logical I am almost convinced that he is right and that I should vote as he advises. The next member who commands attention is a fellow who takes a position exactly opposite, and his reasoning is so sound that I have to admit that he is right. Thus my decision swings from one side to another like a pendulum. My attitude is very much like that of a juror up in Massachusetts who served in a case I was once interested in."

"It was the first time that the man had ever served in that capacity. The jury, after listening to the arguments of counsel, retired and deliberated for a long time. Finally they reported that it would be impossible for them to reach an agreement. When they filed in from the jury room the Court was much displeased, and proceeded to lecture them very severely for their failure to agree."

"Why, Your Honor," exclaimed the new jurymen, "how in the world do you expect the members of the jury to agree when the lawyers in the case can't agree themselves?"

Narrow Escape at Upper Falls.

Margaret, the two-year-old daughter of Matthew McFinn of 970 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls, was playing on the sidewalk on Chestnut street near Winter street about 8 Monday evening when an electric of the Newton & Boston Street Railway approached. The little one started on the tracks as the car neared her and fortunately was caught up by her father. The car had not attained any great speed. Margaret was uninjured but, Patience B. Baggart, and Slaughter, thought best to take her to her home.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, June 11.

The General Court is now on its home-stretch in dead earnest, and ten or a dozen more legislative days ought to finish its work. The Senate is holding to daily sessions, and the House may be expected to adopt an order making each half day session a legislative day at almost any time.

After long days of wearisome discussions in hot committee rooms, the committee on metropolitan affairs has at last favorably reported a bill for the construction of subways under Washington street, which seem to be agreeable to about everybody. The chief credit for this must be given Senator Jones of Melrose, who has done work which entitles him to the thanks of the metropolitan district and any recognition which a grateful Commonwealth has in its power to bestow. The most reasonable one, and one which many believe is sure to come to him, is the presidency of next year's senate. If honest, painstaking, faithful and persevering work gets its proper recognition, this honor will be his. The subway bill as finally perfected provides for a two-track tunnel under Washington street to be leased to the Boston Elevated railway company for a term of 25 years at a rental of 4 and one-half per cent of its cost. Within one year of its completion the railway and the transit commissioners are to decide whether a second subway shall be constructed above it, and if they fail to agree the question is to be referred upon the petition of either to the railroad commissioners for final decision. This is the only question in relation to the subway which is to be submitted to Mr. Bishop's commission under the provisions of the bill, as the mayor of Boston finally carries his point as to the length of the lease and its rental, the Elevated company agreeing at the request of Governor Crane. The bill came up for its first day of debate in the House on Monday. Representative McNary of Boston had tackled upon it a provision that the transit commissioners should widen Pleasant street in Boston, which of course meant that the elevated road should eventually pay the expense of the widening. This was not relished by the Elevated people, and doubtless it will be eliminated from the measure before it is signed by the Governor as Mayor Collins disowned it. Then Mr. Logan of Boston tackled on another provision, that only citizens of the United States should be employed in the work of construction. This would add $1,200,000 to the cost of the tunnel, the transit commissioners say.

For another year the Clinton water compensation question has been eliminated from discussions by City Solicitor Slocum and his legal associates in the metropolitan district. By a decisive vote, the house last week declined to fix such a precedent as that municipalities shall be compelled to pay a perpetual tax for water. A somewhat similar question is still pending, however, on the petition that the Commonwealth shall compensate Westerners for land taken for the Wachusett mountain state reservation. The town has been rather hard hit in recent years, owing to its beauty of situation and other reasons. Not only was this land taken from the reservation but a large slice of its territory was taken for a water supply for Fitchburg. Then Hon. A. L. Harwood's state board of insanity stepped in and gobbled up many hundred acres from the new colony for the insane, so that if the town wants to grow, it will find itself crowding its neighbors.

Both branches have now passed the bill to authorize the city of Newton to lay main drains and common sewers in a part of Beacon street in the city of Boston and to make assessments therefor upon certain property in the city of Newton. The House has amended the bill so that any costs which the city of Boston shall be required to pay by reason of the sewers and drains being in her territory or by reason of any act or neglect of the city of Newton in placing them therein shall be repaid to Boston by Newton.

A bill reported from Representative Dana's committee on judiciary was under discussion in the Senate on Monday. It provided that all manufacturing corporations should pay the wages of their employees in money of the United States. It was opposed by Senator Jones of Melrose on the ground that it was practically special legislation directed against the Washburn & Moon Company of Worcester which has a weekly pay roll of $75,000 which it pays in checks. This concern, he said, has recently set aside a large fund, the income of which is to be devoted to pensioning aged employees. He moved that the bill go over to the next General Court, but this motion was rejected. He then moved to strike out the word, "manufacturing," so as to make the bill apply to all corporations. This amendment was adopted. Senator Skinner voting yes, and the bill was ordered to a third reading. This amendment will seriously inconvenience public service corporations with employees scattered throughout the Commonwealth, and it is probable that the measure will be killed.

The first annual report of the metropolitan water and sewerage board is published, and contains much information concerning the work going on in the district. Sixteen miles of the engineering work of the high level sewer has been completed. This length has been divided into thirty-six contract sections. Of these four have been completed, twenty-three are now in process of construction, and the remaining nine sections between two and three miles in length are yet to be contracted for. The report describes the work of the construction, section by section, with illustrations.

A Worthy Charity

The Boston Flower and Fruit Mission is beginning its thirty-second season. Last year flowers were received from forty-four towns, and twenty thousand seven hundred and seventy bouquets were given away. Fruit in considerable quantities and one hundred and thirty dozen eggs were given away, where much needed and appreciated. In addition to hospitals and other institutions, this mission went into many poor homes, where the coming was eagerly looked for and where the opportunity to cheer and comfort is one of the pleasantest features. Every Tuesday and Friday mornings between 8 and 9 o'clock, donations of flowers, fruits, fresh vegetables and eggs are gratefully received at the Newton station. The Newton branch sent in last year over 3700 bunches and we hope to send in as many this year and as many more.

NEWTONVILLE, MASS., June 16, 1902.

MR. WALTER B. TROWBRIDGE,

Chairman of Committee on Public Franchises of the Board of Aldermen, Newton, Mass.

DEAR SIR:

We desire to state in connection with our petition that if the City of Newton will lay out the route over Beacon and Chestnut Streets substantially as they are now located, or by such modification as the interests of the City require, of a ninety foot street, with a reserved space in the centre of not less than thirty feet in width, upon which is to be located a street railway line, the Wellesley and Boston Street Railway Company will save the City harmless from the entire cost of re-locating, widening, draining and constructing the said Boulevard to its entire width.

The purpose and intent of this offer is that there may be constructed from Commonwealth Avenue by a route substantially over Chestnut and Beacon Streets, or closely adjacent thereto, a continuation of Commonwealth Avenue Boulevard to the junction of Beacon and Washington Streets. This extension of the Boulevard to consist, as is usual, of two driveways, with a reserved space in the centre, upon which reserved space is to be located a double track street railway line, to connect the rails of the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Company on Commonwealth Avenue, as now existing, with the rails of the Wellesley and Boston Street Railway Company, on the corner of Washington and Beacon Streets, as now located.

It is understood that the City, if it accepts such a proposition, is to lay out the streets in the usual method, as applied to Boylston Street and other similar widenings and that the Wellesley and Boston Street Railway Company is to pay the entire cost, as stated above, of such Boulevard, between the points mentioned, provided the said Wellesley and Boston Street Railway Company is given the double track location upon said reserved space upon the usual and legal terms and conditions.

Very truly,

ADAMS D. CLAFLIN.

President.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

A Boulevard at Waban Offered by Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Co.

Another Street Railway Hearing Brings Out a Vigorous Protest—Miscellaneous Business.

Every member of the board of aldermen was present last Monday night, and President Weed called the meeting to order at 7.45 o'clock.

HEARING.

The first business was a hearing on the petition of the Waltham Street Railway Company for a location in Waltham, Crafts, California, Allison and Pearl streets to reach Nonantum square.

Hon. L. E. Chamberlain opened for the Company saying that when this and the other petitions of his company now pending were granted they would not ask for further locations. The Senator reminded the board that the advent of this company into the field and the service which it proposed to give and which the other companies in the same field would give, had greatly contributed to the transportation facilities of the city.

Mr. Chamberlain then gave a history of the Waltham Co's actions in Waltham, and their failure to obtain the location in Waltham and Crafts street, after reaching the Newton line on High street. He said that the service through this territory was very unsatisfactory and that needed facilities were lacking. He reminded the board that they acted as state officials in street railway matters and that the interests of residents of Waltham have to be considered.

The Waltham Co. by its recent agreement with the Newton Co. has obtained a perfected and well rounded out system in Waltham and now desires to reach Nonantum square and a direct route with Boston.

The present route is the most available and the line parallels for part of the distance that of the Newton Co. on Waltham and Crafts streets. Mr. Chamberlain then read a decision of the railroad commissioners on what he claimed was a similar case, and claimed that this paralleling was a "legitimate extension of our enterprise."

He claimed that there was a crying need of the people south of the river in Waltham to reach Boston in one direction and that there was a demand from Nonantum to reach Waltham in the other.

Mr. John H. Grace inquired as to the widening of Pearl street, and Mr. Chamberlain said his company stood ready to make all reasonable widening in the streets.

Mr. Grace then said he favored the idea if the company would widen the street. The street is now widened for part of the way and should be continued. The people there need the cars as they are a long way from Newton. He thought the extension of Pearl street to the proposed Metropolitan park on the Charles river would be a grand good thing, and said it was only a matter of time when Pearl street, a main thoroughfare between two villages, would have to be widened. As the city could not afford this expense he believed it a good thing to let this company do it.

Mr. William Robertshaw thought this road would be a great convenience for people on Los Angeles and Allison streets as they had long wanted direct connection with Pearl street.

D. J. Gallagher, Esq., said it was the general desire of the neighborhood to reach Newton Corner and Waltham and said that this route was highly desirable as it would carry them directly to the shopping district of Waltham on Moody street. Mr. Gallagher also said the widening of the streets was also desired and described the devious route which would have to be taken by the apparatus in case of fire. In closing Mr. Gallagher said that the people look with favor on the matters of street widenings and extensions whether cars are run or not.

Wm. F. Garcelon, Esq., presented two remonstrances against this road, one signed by 9-10 of the owners on Pearl street, the other signed by the tenants on the street.

Mr. Garcelon then claimed that there was no popular demand for this location and said that these petitions were not inspired by rival companies. He reminded the board that while they were a state tribunal on these matters, it was their duty to first guard the interests of Newton. He claimed that this travel to Nonantum square was a burden on the city, and that it was not wise to increase the present congestion at that point. He said that Newton was a residential city and that we do not wish to lose our standing in this respect. Mr. Garcelon thought that Nonantum was served well now by existing roads, and reminded the board that the widening of Pearl street would render the city liable for heavy land damages.

Mr. B. S. Rich said he had canvassed the neighborhood thoroughly and found that 90 per cent. were greatly opposed to the railway and believed it would be a damage to their property.

Mr. E. E. Worden said the railway would reduce property values from 25 to 50 per cent. and would prevent people from enjoying comfortable homes.

Mr. Geo. P. Pote also spoke in opposition and Mr. M. C. Rich said you cannot compensate people for the loss of their homes by money damages. He did not believe the slight advantage to Nonantum offset the damage done to the lower end of the street.

Mr. John Joyce said he owned property on the street and had formerly lived there for many years. He did not believe the abutters there could afford to lose one foot of land. He thought we had railways enough and that this was simply a money making scheme for this company. The railways bother the citizens enough now and we have no rights in a street after the railroad is located. Mr. Joyce spoke of the trees on the street, saying he valued those opposite his property at $100 each.

Mr. Dennis Leahy was strongly opposed to the railway, and Mr. W. C. Rice believed that valuations would be decreased, and he would want to sell his place if a location was granted.

Ex-Alderman Reuben Forknall presented three petitions in remonstrance from Nonantum and said that all but three residents on California and Allison streets had signed. He favored the extension of Allison street to Pearl street, but thought the whole district was almost a unit in opposition to a railway.

A letter from F. W. Hazelwood in remonstrance was then read.

Mr. M. Sinclair Williams believed this petition wholly uncalled for as the district is now served by a street railway. He also spoke for Mr. Bemis, a large land owner on California street, who did not believe a railway would bring desirable people to the place.

Mr. Wm. L. Graves also opposed the route as he did not think a line on Pearl street was necessary.

Pres. A. D. Claflin said that the Waltham Co. had built and not operated their line in Waltham to the Newton line while the Newton Co. had built and was now operating its road on Waltham and Crafts streets. His road had also offered to take the Waltham Co. cars to Newtonville square but the offer had been declined. The Newton Co. had built its line through these streets at a cost of over $25,000 for street construction and they objected to allowing this company to parallel their tracks in three different places. Mr. Claflin claimed that the two lines now operating in Nonantum amply served the district and that the Newton Cos. serve exactly the same public which this new line proposes to reach.

W. H. Coolidge drew from Mr. Chamberlain the statement that this was the last location his Company proposed to ask in Newton and then entered his protest that the Waltham Co. had no authority to ask for this location.

In closing Mr. Chamberlain again went into the history of the difficulty in Waltham and claimed that the offer of the Newton Co. to carry their cars to Newtonville square was done for its effect on the Newton aldermen and that it was not germane to the agreement they were negotiating at that time. Mr. Chamberlain then claimed that the consolidation of the Newton Cos. was the work of his company and said they had been chased worse than the Hound of the Baskervilles by this consolidated company. He expected the opposition on the lower end of Pearl street but thought the residents on Allison and California streets were also entitled to consideration.

At the request of Alderman Ensign the counsel for the two companies then discussed the legal questions involved. Mr. Chamberlain maintaining that his company under its original charter had a right to a location anywhere in Newton, and Mr. Coolidge stating that the Company was limited by the terms mentioned in its charter, and could not extend except from existing tracks.

At the request of Alderman Ensign written briefs are to be prepared and presented to the board by each side, and the hearing was closed.

The papers in the matter were then referred to the Committee on Public Franchises.

Mayor Weeks submitted a communication from the Gas Co. relative to lighting of Boylston street, and it was referred to the Committee on Claims.

A petition of A. C. Judkins et al for street watering on Omar terrace was granted and an order for the same was subsequently adopted.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The following committee reports were received:

FINANCE: Recommending issue of $50,000 Boylston street loan, 3 1/2 per cent. due in 1912; recommending $750 additional for school department; recommending grant of $247,337.37 for city expenses to Sept. 15; recommending $300 additional for real estate experts, and approving committee recommendations for water main in Upland street, and sewer in Chestnut street.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES:

Recommending granting Commonwealth Ave. St. Rwy. Co. locations for poles on Lexington and Washington streets; (majority) recommending conduit location to Tel. Co. in Middlesex road and Hammond street, as amended; (minority) recommending conduit location in Middlesex road and Hammond street, as originally drafted.

PUBLIC WORKS: Recommending water main in Upland street, $710; recommending concrete sidewalks on Bowdoin and Fountain streets; recommending sewer in Chestnut street; recommending petition to County Commissioners relative to foot way over railroad at Chestnut Hill, and recommending that Mayor be authorized to offer for sale certain lands of city.

RULES, ETC.: Relative to enrolment of ordinance relating to fire department.

Select Committee on method of procedure in appropriating and granting money for city expenses.

The following committee reports were accepted:

PUBLIC FRANCHISES: Recommending leave to withdraw on petition of W. G. Burns for common victuallers license; on petition of Filippa Vitti, Donato Citrone and Guiseppe Mazzo for street musician licenses; recommending no action necessary on petition of Valendino Chiacchia for junk license.

RULES, ETC.: recommending approval of records of board.

WABAN LOCATION.

Before presenting the majority report of the Franchise committee upon the Waban location, Alderman Trowbridge said that at the Committee meeting the representatives of the Waltham Co. had virtually said they would pay the expense of constructing the streets named in the order of location, while the representative of the Newton Co. would only be willing to pay $15,000 on their original petition. Since then he had received a letter from Pres. Claffin which was read by the clerk. In this letter the Wellesley & Boston street railway company agree to pay the entire expense of a 90 foot boulevard from Commonwealth avenue by way of Chestnut and Beacon streets to Washington street, with double road ways, a reserved space, and including entire expense of construction, land damages and drainage, provided they are granted a double track location therein.

Alderman Trowbridge then suggested reference of the matter to the Franchise committee and a recess of the board for immediate action of that committee.

Alderman Lothrop opposed a snap meeting of the committee, and Alderman Saltonstall said he had come up from Marblehead to vote on that matter and did not wish any unnecessary delay.

Alderman Trowbridge said he simply wished to learn if this new phase of the matter would in any way affect the present recommendation of the committee.

A ten minute recess was then granted, and upon reassembling Alderman Trowbridge presented the majority report of the Franchise Committee, recommending a location through Waban and the Lower Falls to the Waltham Street Railway Co. Alderman Webster suggested that this matter be tabled and the order printed.

Alderman Hutchinson said that he understood the project involved the widening of streets and that time might be saved by reference to the Public Works Committee, and the matter was then referred to that Committee, the order to be printed and a report to be made at the next meeting of the board.

ORDERS.

The following orders were then adopted:

Authorizing issue of $50,000 bonds for Boylston street, 3 1/2 per cent. ten years; appropriating $400 additional for general appropriation for schools and $350 additional for Conveyance of Pupils; Granting Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Co. pole locations on Lexington street and Washington street; authorizing water main in Upland street, $710; authorizing concrete sidewalks on Fountain and Bowdoin streets; authorizing sewer in Chestnut street; granting authority to Mayor to offer for sale certain lands owned by city; transferring $150 from Maintenance of team to Supplies for Police department; authorizing sale of fireworks for July 4th, and for observance of June 17th.

An order appropriating $9,919.88 for interest on permanent loans was referred to the Finance Committee.

A report from the City Engineer submitting certain sewer assessments was received and the order making such assessments adopted without reference.

The ordinance relating to the Fire Department was passed to be ordained. An order appropriating $300 additional for real estate experts by the City Solicitor was adopted after explanation by Alderman Lothrop upon request of Alderman Ensign.

CONDUIT LOCATIONS.

Alderman Trowbridge presented the order granting the Telephone Co. conduit locations in Middlesex road and Hammond street as recommended by the majority of the Franchise committee and moved to substitute therefor the order as originally presented. He then said that the first order requires the Company to relinquish its rights in pole locations and attachments, while the second does not. Mr. Trowbridge said he was in general accord with the spirit of the majority order, but he did not see the necessity of applying it to this particular case as there were many technical objections. The poles on these streets were under three distinct ownerships, and on one of the telephone poles was a street light. He had been assured by the Telephone Co. that they would remove all unnecessary wires as soon as possible and he did not believe the matter was large enough to raise the issue. He read a letter from the Telephone Company declining to accept the order under the terms as proposed.

Alderman Webster said the matter was simply that the Telephone Company did not wish to trust the city. They have complete rights in locations held by them and it was only by this method that the city could compel them to remove poles and wires from the streets. By passing the majority order the city controls the situation.

Alderman Brown said that he understood that the street would not be free from poles if this order was adopted, and Alderman Trowbridge said that the Gas Co. would undoubtedly have to receive some pole locations if it was accepted.

Alderman Trowbridge's amendment was then defeated and the order of the majority adopted.

On motion of Alderman Webster, a hearing was granted to Esther Brickett before the Franchise Committee on June 25 at 8 p. m.

Alderman Webster severely criticized the order granting $247,337.37 for city expenses to Sept. 15, saying that more information should be given the board on such large sums of money.

Alderman Lothrop explained the method pursued by the Finance Committee and offered to explain any item requested. Alderman Webster made numerous inquiries and concluded with the request that all details should be printed. At the request of Alderman Hutchinson the debate was deferred until the resolution presented by the select committee was before the board, and the order was then adopted.

Alderman Hutchinson then presented resolutions relative to the method to be followed in the matter of appropriations and grants, stating briefly that the heads of departments should make specific requests of grants, approved by the mayor, before the board or finance committee should act, and that all such requests should become part of the papers of the board.

It was also proposed to have all petitions for street lights, sidewalks and crosswalk considered by the street commissioners and mayor and included in the requests for grants.

Alderman Hutchinson said that the committee did not wish to be discharged until the proposed plan had been tested and he believed this plan would place more responsibility upon the mayor and street commissioner and give the board more detail as to expenditures.

Alderman Ensign fully endorsed the resolutions and said the board owed it to their constituents to know more of the details of these grants. He believed the charter intended to give the mayor more responsibility and that he had the time to give attention to these details and that this plan would greatly improve our method of government.

The resolutions were then adopted. Alderman Pond then presented the order authorizing a petition to the County Commissioners for authority to lay out a foot way over the railroad at Chestnut Hill.

Alderman Barber asked as to details of maintenance and City Engineer Farinham when called upon said the matter was in a preliminary state and this order was part of the proceedings. Alderman Ensign thought that in the absence of Alderman Saltonstall the matter ought to be postponed.

Alderman Pond opposed postponement saying that it was necessary to act at once if the county commissioners were to act before the vacation. He said that the residents of Chestnut Hill and the railroad were to bear all the expense of construction and that the detail of maintenance were still in committee.

Alderman Brown was very much in favor of the bridge but did not want the city involved as to maintenance. Alderman Ensign's motion to postpone was defeated by a vote of 8 to 9 and the order was then adopted.

Alderman Webster opposed the order prohibiting fire crackers before 4 a. m. on July 4th, but the order was adopted.

Alderman Webster raised a question as to the public convenience to be erected in Nonantum square, but withdrew his motion when informed that the mayor had the matter in hand.

On motion of Alderman Trowbridge the petitions for street lights now before the Franchise Committee were recalled and referred to the street commissioner.

Upon motion of Alderman Day the offer of the Wellesley & Boston street railway company relative to a boulevard through Waban was ordered printed after Alderman Trowbridge had stated that the first paragraph of the letter was an error.

Alderman Webster then moved that when the board adjourns it be to June 30, at the usual time, and at 11.33 the meeting adjourned.

Coronation Celebration At Halifax.

There will be lively times in Halifax on June 26th and 27th, when there is to be a grand celebration on the occasion of the King's coronation. Thursday the 26th, will be the principal day, as this is to be the day when the military and naval reviews take place. Passengers from Boston on the Steamer Halifax Tuesday, at the 24th, will be in good season for this. Things are lively all along the Plant Line at present, and promise to continue throughout the summer.

With the Mount Olivet Lodge of Masons and a party of students from the mining department of the Institute of Technology, left "standing room only" on the Olivette this week. A new edition of "Lights Along the Shore" is now ready for distribution and may be obtained at Plant Line offices, 300 Washington street, or 20 Atlantic avenue. They will also be mailed on receipt of 2-cent stamp by J. A. Flanders, Passenger Agent, Boston.

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, June 18.

The week opened in a rather quiet manner, sessions of the House and Senate being delayed until one o'clock on Monday, while there was a general understanding that the Senate would transact no business of importance, but would adjourn over until today, as yesterday was a holiday. The only solicitude was on the part of the Speaker and the House leaders who were anxious to have the Washington street subway bill take its final reading in order that it might reach the Senate today. It was put over to today, however. On Friday, June 6, under suspension of the rules mentioned in this correspondence last week the subway bill was advanced to its third reading without debate.

Twelve days later, June 18, the bill stands in exactly the same parliamentary position as at the previous date, the only thing which has happened to it being that the ordering to a third reading has meanwhile been reconsidered and so debate has been had upon various amendments which had been proposed. None of these amendments has carried, however, and the question as to whether or not any of them can be placed upon it is still to be decided by the House.

In consultation with the Attorney-General, Representative Schofield of Malden, the chairman of the committee on metropolitan affairs, has drawn certain amendments which may be considered as practically perfecting in their character. The most important one provides that the terms of the contract between the city of Boston and the Boston Elevated Railway Company, in so far as they relate to the construction, maintenance, and operation of a tunnel, subway, and appurtenances shall be in accordance with the provisions of the act and such contract between the city and the company shall not be altered by the Legislature to the impairment of the obligation thereof. This change is made as a concession of the attitude of certain members who feel that the state's right to control the subway, and at some future time if deemed wise, to take possession of the elevated railway company for state operation was being surrendered under the terms of the act as originally drawn. Other amendments which could not be considered perfecting have been offered by Messrs. Kiley and Hayes of Boston, MacCartney of Rockland, Hayes of Lowell, Garfield of Brockton and others. Notwithstanding all the amendments, which hardly need to be outlined here, as there is small likelihood of their being in the bill when it reaches the Governor, there is a general feeling that the bill will finally be enacted with no amendments excepting such as were suggested by members of the committee on metropolitan affairs to make it more perfect in its provisions. Hence while it cannot be said that the time spent in debate upon it thus far and yet to be used in the same process is wasted, the debates do not have that effect upon the public mind which would have been the case if the fate of the bill was understood to be in the slightest degree jeopardized by them.

It is not a wise plan to pass bills involving the expenditure of millions of dollars without a thorough discussion; but still it need hardly be said that a great many foolish ideas are being advanced in order to make reputations for the men who advance them.

The residents of Newton's next neighbor, Brighton, have been getting as much out of this General Court as they can get out of the Commonwealth. The representatives of this section, with the members representing Dorchester, labored most faithfully for the success of the bill granting district option. While there is a human possibility that the voters of Boston may not accept this act, the chances are so strong that they will, that Brighton people have every reason for the satisfaction they expressed over its success.

The House ways and means committee has favorably reported the bill to provide for a new Union Station at Worcester if the grade crossing commissioners determine it to be essential, so that unless there is a very strong opposition on the floor, Mr. Bullard's work as chairman of the committee on railroads may be considered as practically finished. All the insurance matters have been passed upon so that that branch of Mr. Dana's labors is over although there are one or two local matters still pending upon which he may have occasion to speak. Both branches have accepted the adverse report on the petition of Henry Ritcher, Jr., and others for damages to certain property in Clinton by the construction of the metropolitan water system. The Senate substituted an engrossed bill to provide for the construction of a second state sanatorium but this may be rejected in the House or it is likely to be vetoed by the Governor. His Excellency may also veto the West Lynn highway bill unless it is previously rejected by the Senate, while he is likely to take similar action on the bill for the expenditure of $15,000 for constructing an entrance to East Bay at Osterville which the House has refused to reject as recommended by the ways and means committee and also a bill for the expenditure of $500,000 for state highway construction to give employment in times of industrial depression which has also been passed along notwithstanding the opposition of the ways and means committee. The outlook, therefore, is that during the next ten days or so, several vetoes may serve to give spice to the proceedings.

The bill to permit Newton to lay sewers in Beacon street, Boston, was passed to be enacted by the Senate and sent to the Governor on Monday.

More Smallpox at Nonantum.

Marie Laundry, aged 18, of 63 Dalby street, Nonantum, was taken to the Newton hospital, Sunday last, suffering with smallpox. This is the second case in the Nonantum district within a week.

REAL ENJOYMENT.

The woman who reads this will understand to the full what Mrs. Tipton meant when she says: "I am enjoying good health." It takes a person who has been made wretched by sickness to understand the joy of health.

There are very many women who suffer as did Mrs. Tipton, who might be cured as she was by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Nora Tipton, of Cropper (Cropper Station), Shelby Co., Kentucky. "You remember my case was one of female weakness and weak lungs. I had no appetite and would often spit blood; was confined to my bed almost half of the time and could hardly stand on my feet at times for the pains through my whole body and system. My husband had to pay large doctor bills for me, but since I have taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' we haven't paid any more doctor bills. It had been seven months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have been enjoying good health all the time. I can never praise these medicines too highly for I have received so much benefit. I pray that many who suffer as I did will take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am sure they will never fail to cure when given a fair trial. Everybody tells me I look better than they ever saw me. I am sure I feel better than I ever did before."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

A VALUABLE LOCATION.

Street railway locations are evidently considered a valuable possession in Newton, and the offer of the Wellesley & Boston Co. of a ninety-foot boulevard through Waban, free of expense to the city, in return for a double track location therein, marks the high tide of a movement in this direction begun about 5 years ago.

From a $7000 contribution towards a street widening in 1898 to a complete boulevard estimated to cost nearly $100,000 in 1902 is a long step, but one which clearly indicates the increasing values of street railway locations.

The present situation at Waban is brought about by the favorable recommendation by committee of an order granting a location to the Waltham Co. under restrictions which call for an expenditure of about $125,000 by that company. These restrictions may or may not be accepted, but they raise very intricate legal problems on Washington street, Lower Falls, where the tracks parallel those of the Wellesley Co. and on Woodward street, Eliot, where they parallel those of the Newton & Boston Co. These technicalities will surely raise so much trouble and cause so much delay that it seems to be the part of wisdom to take advantage of the very generous offer of the local company.

We understand that the local companies have just made arrangements with the Boston Elevated whereby the Newton cars are to be taken into the Park street subway without change. It will thus be possible to run through cars from the Lower Falls, by way of Waban and Commonwealth avenue to the heart of Boston. This advantage together with the very extensive system of free transfers now in vogue on the Newton system, will have a material bearing on the case when it is considered by the aldermen on June 30th.

ONE SESSION OR TWO.

The remonstrants against the continuance of the experiment of one session in the Bigelow district were heard by the School Committee this week and an early settlement of this much debated question may be expected.

The remonstrants frankly admitted they were in a minority in the district, but believed that the danger to health from the long mental and physical strain of a five hour session, justified them in appealing to the school board for relief.

This argument was fortified by opinions of prominent educators and physicians, and testimony given by several parents.

The protest will have the effect of calling attention to the special legislation heretofore prevailing for the Bigelow district, and will probably result in the adoption of a general plan by the school committee, applicable to every district in the city.

The passage of an impossible court order by the aldermen last week, will result in the retention, in the air, of heavy cables and dangerous wires at Chestnut Hill, which the Telephone Co. desired to place underground. It is sometimes possible to carry a theory, which may be correct in principle, to a point where its strict application will react on the best interests of the public.

The direct nomination principle will at last have a trial this fall, when representatives to the legislature in this city and our municipal officers will be nominated by direct vote.

The defeat of the pernicious Spanish Veteran Exemption bill is a cause of congratulation to the friends of the merit system.

SMITH COLLEGE.

NEWTON WELL REPRESENTED IN LIST OF GRADUATES.

Newton High school of 1898 was well represented in the graduating class of Smith College on Tuesday. Miss Elizabeth Leavitt, Miss Carolyn Helfenstein Childs, Miss Sybil Lavinia Cox, Miss Katharine Wheeler Holmes of Newton, Miss Alice Frothingham Kidder of Newton Centre, Miss Mary Wales Glover of West Newton, receiving degrees, also Miss Ethel Hale Freeman of West Newton, a graduate of Dana Hall. Miss Freeman, as vice president of her freshman class, president of her junior year, and president of the Smith College Council of 1902, received at the president's reception on Monday evening, being the recipient of many congratulations on her successful rendering of her part in the senior dramatics. The class was most fortunate in securing the services of Dr. E. E. Hale as orator at commencement, where he was his best. He arrived in Northampton Saturday noon, and was to be seen at most of the class functions from the Dramatics Saturday to the alumnae banquet on Tuesday, proving quite as popular a target for the cameras on Ivy day as the charming seniors in their dainty white gowns passing through the garlands of laurel.

Miss Roosevelt in Newton.

Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Roosevelt, is a guest at the home of her grandfather, Mr. George C. Lee of Essex road, Chestnut Hill. Miss Roosevelt greatly enjoyed the Country club events last Saturday and afterwards went to Milton to visit relatives.

It is understood that Miss Roosevelt will be at her grandfather's enough to attend some of the most important exercises at Harvard as well as witnessing the New London boat race.

Funeral of G. E. Armstrong.

The funeral of Mr. George E. Armstrong of the firm of Armstrong, Schirmer & Co., who died Tuesday at Becket, Mass., was held Saturday afternoon at his home at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Hammond street, Chestnut Hill.

The services took place at 2, and were largely attended by relatives and friends, including representatives of the firms of Armstrong, Schirmer & Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co., the Boston Stock Exchange and others from Boston financial circles. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful and included a number of set pieces.

The services included prayer and scripture reading, and several selections by the Ruggles street quartet. Rev. Edward Hale of the Chestnut Hill chapel was in charge.

At the close the body was removed to a tomb at the Newton cemetery. The pallbearers were F. E. Peabody, Robert Winsor, Frank W. Kemick, William L. Benedict, Albert West and George E. Perrin, all from the office of Kidder, Peabody & Co.

Death of Charles F. Wood.

Charles F. Wood, for 30 years a resident of this city, and formerly asst. supt. of the Boston office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, died Saturday at his home, 79 Jewett street. He was 80 years old. He had been ill several months suffering with a complication of diseases. Mr. Wood was a native of Alexandria, Va., and when young his parents moved to Washington. He secured a college education and later entered the revenue service of the government. During the Mexican war he was associated with this department as a lieutenant. About 1857 he entered the employ of the Western Union at Hartford. Some time afterward he was transferred to the Boston office, where he eventually became superintendent, holding this position many years.

He was a 32d degree Mason, a member of Winslow Lewis lodge of Boston, and of Grace Episcopal church.

Funeral services were held at 4 Tuesday afternoon in Grace Episcopal church, Rev. Dr. Shinn and Rev. R. K. Smith officiating. The vested choir of men and boys sang.

The pallbearers were these wardens and vestrymen of Grace Episcopal church: George S. Bullens, John R. W. Shapleigh, Charles W. Emerson, Edward H. Cutler, William M. Bullivant, Edwin A. Rogers, Charles E. Riley, E. A. Phippen and C. Lewis Harrison.

The burial was in the Newton cemetery, where there was a commitment service according to the Episcopal ritual.

The graduation exercises of the High school take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the assembly hall.

SCHOOL BOARD.

At the special session held on Wednesday evening, a hearing was granted the Bigelow district upon the subject of the permanency of the present one session plan in the primary and grammar grades.

The remonstrants against one sessions were first heard and remarks were made by Aldermen Hubbard and Barber, ex-Alderman O. M. Fisher, Dr. Banker, and Messrs. C. E. Currier, W. L. Graves, John Van Burskirk and J. C. Brimblecom.

The arguments of one session were represented by Mrs. Chester Guild, and Messrs. Sydney Harwood, H. M. Greenwood, W. E. Dewey, C. O. Tucker and others whose names were not given. The claim that one session was injurious to the health of the children was denied, and great stress laid on the fact that a large majority of the district were in favor of its continuance.

PRIZE OF $500.

GREAT CAPTURE OF NEWTON TUB "NONANTUM" BY GETTING FIRST PLACED AT FIREMEN'S MUSTER IN CHARLESTOWN TUESDAY.

The largest, or as large as any first prize ever captured at a hand tub muster, was what "The Nonantum," the tub of the Newton veteran firemen won with its red-shirted crew of 60 men, at the play-out at Charlestown, Bunker Hill Day. They won $500. This machine forced the stream 202 feet 2 1/4 inches.

Columbia of Winchendon received the second prize of $250 for a squirt of 196 feet 5 1/4 inches.

Phoenix of Marblehead went home with a record of 193 feet 1 1/4 inches and $125.

By showing 188 feet 9 1/4 inches Deluge of Lowell was compensated for the trip by the receipt of $75, and the fifth prize, $50, went to Eureka 1 of Arlington.

The wind was most exasperatingly strong, as it blew directly across the playground at Sullivan square, where the contest was held, scattering the spray into the crowd beyond the pipe when it should have sprinkled the paper ahead. But the wind favored no one, unless by a momentary lull it enabled a shrewd foreman to "let 'er go" quickly enough to get in a good squirt.

After the result was announced the members of Nonantum, Phoenix and Deluge paraded about Sullivan square with brooms.

Police Paragraphs.

Those who have heard of the police department baseball nine are anxiously waiting to buy seats for the first game.

Thomas Angelo, owner of a hurdy gurdy, was in court last Saturday upon complaint of Patrolman B. F. Burke for not having a license, and fined $2.

Issaac Dunn of Beecherlane, Newton Centre, who let his hens run on the land of a neighbor, was given a severe reprimand by Judge Kennedy in court last Saturday and the case against him was continued until August 30.

An Old Firm

With the erection of the new office building by the Old South Trust in the Washington street lots bounded by Spring lane and Milk street, one familiar old landmark will pass away from that locality. This is the house of J. L. Fairbanks & Company, which has held the same quarters, 288 Washington street, Boston, for the past ninety-two years. The house moves only a short distance away, occupying by the middle of July five floors and a basement at 11 and 13 Franklin street.

Among the stationers of Boston such permanency of location is not only remarkable, it is unparalleled. A history of the house which has held it will at this time, be interesting. In the latter part of 1797, or the beginning of the year 1798, Benjamin and Josiah Loring, twin brothers, were established together as bookbinders on Water street, between what are known as Congress and Devonshire streets. In 1800 the brothers separated, Josiah removing to Devonshire street, thence to School street in 1807. In 1810 he removed to 1 South row or Marlborough street, now known as 288 Washington street. In 1839 he took into partnership W. C. Eayrs, until the death of Mr. Loring in 1841. J. L. Fairbanks, who had from a boy been employed by the firm, then became associated with Mr. Eayrs, under the firm name of Eayrs & Fairbanks. In 1861 Mr. Eayrs retired, Mr. Fairbanks continuing the business on his own account. In 1869 Horace G. Tucker, who had been in the employ of the firm since 1837, became a partner, under the firm name of J. L. Fairbanks & Co.

On the death of Mr. Fairbanks in 1875, E. H. Whitney associated himself with Mr. Tucker, continuing the business commenced by Mr. Loring in 1800, under the firm name of J. L. Fairbanks & Co. In May 1888 Mr. Abner K. Pratt of Newton Centre, who had been in their employ since 1868, was admitted as a partner. Mr. Pratt is the only surviving member of the firm, Mr. Tucker having retired on Jan. 1, 1891, after fifty-five years of earnest and untiring effort, which was crowned with great success. He died in August, 1899. The other member of the firm, E. H. Whitney, died in May 1899. A striking example of long and faithful service is that of P. A. Lyons, who has been in the employ for the long period of fifty-one years. It is hoped by friends of the firm the new location of the old house will prove as permanent an abode as 288 Washington street.

Death of Mrs. S. C. Willoughby.

On Sunday last occurred the death of Mrs. Sarah C. Willoughby, one of our old time residents, more familiarly known as Mrs. S. C. Monroe.

Coming to our village some 50 years ago the family took up their residence on the corner of Centre and Richardson streets, from which place she was buried on Wednesday last, the interment being in Newton cemetery.

Mrs. Willoughby was a woman of strong personality and marked ability. Identifying herself with the Eliot church in 1846, the year after its organization, she was a constant and devout attendant until paralysis laid her aside. Musical in her tastes she was long a member of the choir and musical societies.

She leaves a husband and one daughter, Mrs. George N. Hitchcock, formerly known as Mrs. Joseph P. Cobb, also a brother, 85 years of age, Mr. Charles Cummings of Medford.

The funeral services were conducted by Dr. Davis of the Eliot church, assisted by Dr. Wellman, her old time pastor. Noticeable among those who came to pay the last tribute of respect were the associates of the long years ago who now survive her. The singing was impressively rendered by a male quartet.

Hunnell Club.

If the showers of last Friday evening could have been persuaded to remain behind the clouds until nearly midnight the first promenade concert would have fully realized all expectations. Nothing had been left undone; the illumination was of excellent arrangement and the grounds were in a most attractive form. The weather however, compelled the club members and their guests to seek the shelter of the clubhouse, but here dancing was enjoyed and the very pleasing program of the band finely rendered.

Combination Park.

"The satisfied 10,000," would be a good name to apply to the host of people who went to Combination Park on Bunker Hill Day to be entertained, and were entertained by one of the best shows ever seen at the "parlor track."

The customary program will be given every evening next week. The racing is bound to be interesting for special races between evenly matched fields are being arranged for the week.

The vaudeville show will be made up of Kennedy and Rooney, the Howard brothers, Talbot and Carr and Frank O'Brien. Clayton Kennedy and Mattie Rooney are a very clever pair. Howard brothers are in a class by themselves as banjoists. The firm of Talbot and Carr is a new one in the vaudeville field, but its members are old favorites. Frank O'Brien is one of the best of eccentric character comedians and does a very odd specialty.

—Miss Grace E. Hayden celebrated her twelfth birthday Monday afternoon at her home on Jefferson street. She had as guests 28 boys and girls of about her age, together with relatives and friends from Dorchester and Roxbury. Games and music were much enjoyed and were followed by a collation.

—Mrs. F. E. and F. O. Stanley arrived home Tuesday from their California trip. While away they visited Denver, Col., where they attended the annual convention of the Daughters of the Revolution, as well as the biennial of Woman's Clubs at Los Angeles, Cal., being delegates to both. They visited all the points of interest in California, and the northwest, including the Yellow stone National Park.

—Mrs. Horace A. Jordan of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Wm. B. Rogerson of Willard street entertained the Monday Club at the home of the latter on Monday afternoon. After whist a paper giving the history of the first American flag was read by Mrs. Rogerson. This was followed by the singing of choice selections by Mrs. Helen Carter Wright. The rooms were trimmed with flags and beautiful flowers were in profusion. The dining room was especially pretty with pink shaded electric lights above the table, which was a novel and beautiful arrangement in pink, crowned with a center-piece of June roses. Prizes at whist were awarded to the following members: Mrs. Kirk Hobart of Sargent street; Mrs. Mary Lane of Oakleigh road, and Mrs. George Thre shie of Kirkstall road, Newtonville.

CAR DERAILED BY STONE

PEEPLER ACCIDENT ON BOULEVARD WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON. BADLY WRECKED A BIG ELECTRIC.

One of the big Norumbega Park cars of the Commonwealth avenue line of the Boston & Suburban street railway was badly wrecked in an accident of a most peculiar character on the boulevard near Wauwinet stock farm, West Newton, Wednesday afternoon.

From what can be learned a huge rock, weighing several tons, was thrown up by explosives from an excavation (north of the west bound tracks), which is being prepared for the extension of the Sudbury aqueduct of the Metropolitan waterworks. This massive stone lay almost upon it, it is said, one of the rails. The blasting occurred sometime after 12.

About 1 a westbound car, with a comparatively small load of passengers, came along the rails and before it could be brought to a stop crashed into the obstruction and was derailed. In the smashup the forward dasher of the car was wrenched off and the standards that support the roof were ripped from under for fully a third of the length of the car. This caused the roof itself to give way.

It is reported that the passengers were badly shaken-up but what information that has been given out it is learned that only an unknown woman was slightly injured.

Wedge against the rock it was several hours before workmen were able to remove the car. So great was the force that brought the car against the stone no little ingenuity was required to clear the rails of this strange obstruction.

A feature of the case that has aroused discussion is that several westbound cars had come up within a short distance of the obstruction prior to the accident but had avoided delay by transferring passengers to east bound cars.

Death of Charles K. Drury

Charles Kingsbury Drury, of Washington Park, Newtonville, died suddenly, of heart failure on Friday morning, of last week, leaving a widow and one son and a daughter.

Mr. Drury was a member of the Grand Army, Charles Ward Post No. 62. He enlisted in Company A, Sixty-First Massachusetts Regiment, and served in that command to the close of the war; was made a Sergeant and promoted to Sergeant Major, and was offered and declined a commission. He was with the army of the Potomac under Grant at the siege of Petersburg, and was one of the first to enter that city when it was finally captured. He had been Secretary of the Sixty-First Regiment Veteran Association almost from its organization, and always took an active part in arranging for its annual reunions, which were to him, as to all Grand Army men, of the greatest interest.

He was very well known in the oil business in Boston, as he had been connected with the Boston department of the Standard Oil Company, and its predecessors, the Maverick Oil Co., and Wilkinson, Carter & Co., for 32 years. He was a member of Dalhousie Lodge, F. & A. M. Constant in business, faithful to duty, his uniform courtesy and kind disposition had made him many friends, both in business and in the organizations to which he belonged.

The funeral was held at 1.30 Monday afternoon from the family residence in Washington park. A representative gathering of business associates and friends attended.

Members of Charles Ward post, 62, G. A. R., Dalhousie lodge, F. & A. M., 61st regiment veteran association and a delegation from the Boston department of the Standard Oil Company were present.

Rev. O. S. Davis, pastor of the Central Congregational church of Newtonville, conducted the services, which consisted of scripture reading, prayers and words of eulogy. Selections were given by the Mendelssohn quartet.

The coffin was draped with a flag, a tribute of Grand Army comrades, and it was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were Messrs. Fred Sherman, James Sherman, Walter Corson and W. W. Palmer, all of Newtonville.

At the close of the services the body was taken to Wayland for interment in the family lot.

The Auburndale Inn

The Auburndale Inn at Riverside is under the management of Alexander Brown, the former superintendent and steward of the Boston Athletic Association. The members of the Athletic Club with their ladies patronized the Inn quite liberally on field day.

The Auburndale Inn is located at Riverside in the most charming location of Newton, and only 3 minutes walk from Norumbega Park.

An excellent Table d'Hotel dinner is served evenings.

WABAN.

—Mills undertaking rooms, 813 Washington street, Newtonville. Tel. 445-5. Formerly with G. H. Gregg.

—The friends of Mr. Geo. M. Hayden, the popular station agent, will be pleased to learn of his promotion to the Allston station, although there are many regrets over his removal from this village.

—Waban school will hold its closing exercises, June 15th to 17th. On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the commencement vespers service will be held in the little chapel in Waban, with a sermon by the Principal, J. H. Pillsbury. On Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the annual field day sports will take place, and on Tuesday morning at 11, there will be an address at the school by Rev. E. H. Hughes of Malden, followed by lunch. All who are interested in the school are invited to attend any or all of these exercises.

Newto 1 Club.

Through the thoughtfulness of former Pres. Edwin B. Haskell, the reading room is to be ornamented by a handsome bust of Grant, which will occupy a beautiful marble stand. Both are his gift to the club and were brought from abroad this week. Many saw them on Wednesday night for the first time. There is deep admiration on all sides and club members have expressed their indebtedness to Mr. Haskell many times over. With much interest it is learned that the bust was the work of an American sculptor in Italy and that in the latter country Mr. Haskell bought it.

No atmospheric discomforts were encountered by the many hundreds that attended the third June concert on Wednesday evening. Ideal conditions made the occasion as pleasing and successful as could be desired. The Lynn military 8th regiment band was fully up to the standard and many a compliment for these musicians was heard. Harry Stiles was musical director.

Stewart's Military Band will play Wednesday evening.

Mayor Weeks Would Uphold Roosevelt.

Mayor John W. Weeks was one of the principal guests at the annual banquet of the Charlestown Literary Union, held Monday evening at its home in Monument square.

Mayor Weeks after a tribute to his business partner, James J. Phelan, and to Edward J. Gallagher, who are members of the union, stated that if its purpose was to make men of their character and ability it was doing a wonderful work in the community. Referring to the Philippines Mayor Weeks stated that it was the patriotic duty of every citizen to back up the administration. No one, he believed, wanted the Philippines as an adjunct to the United States. The United States had done a magnificent duty when it entered upon the war for Cuba. It had done a magnificent act in withdrawing. It would do as magnificently by the Philippines when the people of those islands were able to care for themselves.

Norumbega Park.

The crowds were headed for Norumbega Park from early morn until late at night on Bunker Hill Day. For some unaccountable reason the biggest holiday in the whole season at Norumbega has always been June 17th and the management looked for not only a repetition of last year's holidays attendance of over 20,000 but an increase of several thousand over that figure. On the other hand the Commonwealth avenue street railway company whose jumbo cars, seating comfortably 100 people each, to transport the people out there and back, arranged for a special service of their finely equipped line.

The Park management secured a special feature, one of Charlestown's own great attractions, the Charles-town Cadet Band, to give concerts all day in the Music Con. Such features as the Zoological Garden, with its grand arrangement of animal features this season; the Mysterious Chalet, with its new electrical wonders; the Electric fountain, with bewildering prismatic show; will all be specially interesting.

In the Rustic Theatre commencing last Monday, and continuing every afternoon and evening, this week is the following excellent vaudeville performance: Jennie Yeaman, the monologue favorite and singing comedian; Quaker City Quartet, famous as "The Musical Blacksmiths"; Daly and Devere, comedians; The Great Carmen, the dexterous; Yamamoto Brothers, marvelous gymnasts; and Jack Dempsey, comedian and dancer. An excellent new vaudeville program will be offered next week.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre.—The same old story of crowded houses and unbounded enthusiasm comes from the Tremont Theatre in Boston, where "Prince of Pilsen," the most successful work of the authors of "The Burgomaster" and "King Dodo," is now in the second month of its phenomenal summer run. An event of the present week was the first appearance in the piece of a genuine German noblewoman, the Countess Bianca de Jeannette, who, besides rejoicing in a personality of the "prize beauty" type, having electrified Boston with her charms and stunning wardrobe, shines particularly as a violin virtuoso, and displays her skill, incidentally to the popular "Tale of the Seashell" number, a 30-year-old phenomenon. The company is fast becoming famous for dash and spirit as well as for musical ability. The quaint fun of Mr. Kainone as the German-American brewer; the gallant bearing and fine singing of Messrs. Donaldson and Anderson; the beauty, charm and admirable vocalism of Misses Coleman and Peebles; the quaint dancing of Miss Morose and Mr. Heron, and the capital work of the great chorus, combine to make the presentation one of the finest of the year in Boston. New and brilliant costumes now add effect to the stage pictures. Manager Schoeffel evidently desires the patronage of the entire population, regardless of the size of their purses, for another reduction in prices has been made, which affects 200 first balcony seats and the entire second balcony. Owing to the severe strain on the company in warm weather, the Wednesday matinees will be abandoned during the rest of the engagement.

Daughter Gets $1000; Mother $3250

Verdicts for the plaintiffs were returned by a jury Wednesday in the second session of the superior court, before Judge Wait, in the cases of Margaret and Mary Farrell vs. the Newton and Boston street railway company. They sustained injuries by reason of a collision of the car in which they were riding and another vehicle. Margaret is awarded $1000 damages and her mother, Mary Farrell, $3250.

LASELL ALUMNAE.

Its Recent Annual Meeting.

Addresses of Interest to Former Students.

The Lasell Alumnae Association held its annual reunion at Lasell Seminary, Auburndale, on the afternoon of commencement day. At the business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. D. Sampson, '57; vice presidents, Mrs. Silas Peirce, '30; Mrs. Samuel Conant, '81, Miss Annie Gwinnell, '88; secretary, Miss Nellie Richards, '93; treasurer, Miss Mary Vance, '99.

Committees were appointed to take charge of the mid-winter and annual reunions, and the motion to admit the graduating class of '02 was carried by a rising vote. After some discussion of plans for the future, brief addresses were given by members of the Association, who had recently returned to their native state. Mrs. Carpenter, '56, a missionary to Yokohama, Japan, gave an interesting account of the status of women in that country, referring to the loss of liberty and honor among the young daughters who freely offered themselves as a sacrifice on the altar of domestic duty, it being an imperative rule for them to assist in defraying the financial obligations of the parents, no matter at what cost to themselves.

Mrs. Carpenter's long residence in the East and her well known faithful services in the cause of Christianity entitle her to speak with feeling and judgment on such a topic. Mrs. Silas Peirce, '80, in her usual bright way described a ceremonial at St. Peter's in Rome, when she was fortunate enough to secure a good view of the Pope, and to enjoy the brilliant pageant of the Easter celebration.

Mrs. Alice Linscott Hall, '78, spoke on the subject of youth and youthfulness, stating that our children did not make us seem old but helped us to keep young. She convulsed the audience with the account of maternal solicitude over a broken nose and other terrifying incidents of the foot ball season, which caused amusement only to the tall young masculine devotee to athletic sports.

Mrs. G. F. Kellogg gave an entertaining description of a reunion of Lasell girls in Pasadena, at the residence of the principal of the Seminary, Dr. Bragdon. She said in part, "Have you ever lived in a boarding house for 6 months? I did last winter in that mecca for Eastern tourists, Pasadena, Cal. Boarding for a living, a bright friend of mine called it. Under these circumstances you may imagine with what pleasure a tiny card was received, bearing these cabalistic characters: 'Miss Katherine Belle Bragdon, at Home, Thursday, 2.30 to 5 p. m. Thimbles.'" My first thought was that Miss Belle had invited me to assist at a sewing bee for the new hospital, Pasadena's latest pet, but upon further consideration concluded to take my fancy work, which proved to be the correct thing. Miss Bragdon exhibited a beautiful piece of embroidery which she explained had been the company show work for herself and mother for several years. Dr. Bragdon announced his arrival by tossing his cap into the center of the room. Denver, Col., was represented by Elizabeth Creswell; Pueblo by Mrs. Charles Fonda; Indianapolis, Ind., by Bess Bailey, and Toledo, O., by Nellie Feagles. Little Miss Harriet Dalgell of Wheeling, West Virginia, was a charming Southerner of the new century, while the old Bay State sent Miss Goodell of Worcester, Miss Shannon and myself from Brookline, while Mrs. Bragdon and Fraulien Rother, teacher in the classical school for girls in Pasadena, completed the pleasant company. Letters were read from absent ones, news of the old school was retailed, and the merry chatter went round while refreshments of delicious California fruits were served. The view from that library window is worth describing; the green lawns and waving palms, orange orchards and rose-covered cottages in the near fore ground, and a little beyond the Sierra Madre Mts., still farther old Baldy lifts his snow clad summit 10,000 feet against the blue sky, and on a clear day to the East San Jacinto 13,000 feet. Within doors the rooms are beautiful and filled with treasures gathered from all lands by a discriminating collector; perhaps of the greatest interest to Eastern eyes, was the museum of Indian curios, baskets, blankets and images. As I was the only old girl present it was a disappointment that we just missed having with us L. O., who arrived that day at the Raymond, but later I took a drive with her accompanied by her only son. Her husband, Mr. Arthur Eddy, is prominent among the younger set of lawyers in Chicago, and was appointed by the mayor of that city chairman of the committee of arrangements to receive Prince Henry.

One day at our boarding house a strange lady appeared next me at dinner and in the course of conversation we were mutually pleased to learn that the dear old Hub had been the home of both, that both our fathers had been Methodist ministers, and when she remarked that she must call on the B's as she was graduated at Lasell, I was delighted to respond that I too would be grateful and this was another bond of union between us. "I do not always tell the year in which I graduated," I remarked. "Neither do I," replied she, "but I have a son who will enter An Arbor in the autumn and my class was the last year of Prof. Cushing at Lasell." "You are Luella Hadman Brooks," I said, "many a time have I written that name while secretary of the Alumnae Association." I afterwards met Mrs. Brooks and another Lasell girl in the emporium at San Francisco.

co. But before leaving Pasadena, permit me to quote these lines which are so truly descriptive of that lovely place.

"O Southland, O dream land!
With cycles of green,
O moonlight, enchanted by mocking birds song;
Cool sea winds, fair mountains, the fruit lands between,
The pepper trees shade and the sunny days long."

IMPURE BAKING POWDER SEIZED.

THE NEW YORK BOARD OF HEALTH FIND IT CONTAINS ALUM AND ROCK, DECLARE IT DANGEROUS TO HEALTH AND DUMP IT INTO THE RIVER.

The New York papers report that the Health Department of that city has seized as dangerous to health nearly two tons of cheap mixtures sold for baking powder, and dumped them into the offal scow to be destroyed. More of the powder was found in a Sixth avenue department store. The report of the analysis of the Health Department stated that it was an "alum baking powder" containing alum and pulverized rock.

The different Health Authorities seem to have different ways of repressing the sale of bad baking powders. In England they have prosecuted the grocers under the general law and broken up the traffic. In Missouri the sale of alum baking powder is actually prohibited by law. In New York they seize the unwholesome stuff and cast it into the river, without any discussion. The latter way is certainly effective.

The alum baking powders are usually offered at a low price, ten to twenty cents a pound, or with some prize, as a temptation to the house wife.

Consumers can protect themselves by buying only high-grade baking powder of established name and reputation. Do not be tempted by the grocer to take something else as "just as good" or "our own brand," for the trials show that the grocer himself is often deceived by unscrupulous makers and is selling an alum powder without knowing it.

There are several good powders on the market; let the housekeeper insist on having what she knows is right, and not be induced to risk the life of the family for an imaginary saving of a few cents.

TENDER THOUGHTS

Recalled by Visiting the Cemetery.

Annual Meeting of the Corporation.

The annual meeting of the Newton cemetery corporation was held in the beautiful Farlow memorial chapel on the cemetery grounds last Saturday afternoon.

The attendance showed the deep interest felt on the part of lot owners and much praise was heard for the conditions so plainly visible upon first entering the gates and as more emphatically shown by the several official reports.

The following were elected trustees: E. B. Haskell, W. P. Tyler, Otis Pettee, A. R. Mitchell, E. L. Pickard, Francis Murdock, George Frost, E. M. Fowle, and C. F. Eddy. Later these officers were chosen: E. B. Haskell, president; W. P. Tyler, vice president; H. Wilson Ross, treasurer and superintendent, and Neils Mattson, assistant superintendent.

Sale of Lots.
Twenty-nine persons have purchased lots during the year.

Number of lot owners June 1, 1902 1613

Nine thousand and thirty (9030) feet of land has been sold for lots, at an average price of $1.45 per square foot.

Chapel.
The Chapel has been used twenty-three times.

Labor.
About 6700 days' labor have been performed by men in the cemetery and seven horses have been employed.

In addition to the above, the following work has been performed, beside the general care of the cemetery grounds.

The buildings have been thoroughly repaired and painted at a cost of about $1,000.

Central avenue has been re-surfaced. The drains in the meadows have been lowered nearly two feet more than ever before. This was made possible by lowering the water level in the reservoir constructed for the Electric Power Company.

A great improvement has been made in some parts of the cemetery by sodding over the old gravel walks, making a much finer lawn effect and also giving space for ornamental shrubbery planting.

Many desirable locations for lots are now graded and ready for sale at prices ranging from $1.33 to $3.16 per square foot.

Comparing the prices of our lots with lots of equally desirable locations in other corporation cemeteries, our prices are much more reasonable.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES.

As reported by your Treasurer, our fund for care of lots is now $134,474.96. In 1866 one hundred dollars was left by Mr. Elisha Field for the protection of his lot. In 1873 a vote was passed by the Corporation that no lot after that date should be sold without perpetual care, and from this small beginning you have the present fund.

We have nearly two hundred lots still unprotected, and the Trustees would urge the advisability of all who can, putting their lots under perpetual care at once.

From the first our cemetery has been noted for neatness and good taste in the care of the grounds, and no burial place for the dead stands higher in the state than our cemetery.

The sale of lots has been large in proportion to our population. The Trustees have in mind many improvements, and if the sale of lots could be doubled, giving the ready funds, our superintendent would be most pleased to enter upon the work at once.

The matter of monuments and headstones has been before the board, and has been under consideration. Our superintendent, Mr. Ross, would be most willing to give advice on the matter if asked.

The Trustees desire to carry out the early plan, to not only preserve the natural outline which nature has given us, in hill and dale, but to preserve all lawn effect which is so pleasing to the eye, and restful as well.

The Superintendent and his assistant enjoy the full confidence of your trustees.

A Call for Funds.

Although the Associated Charities is not a relief society, it often happens that an emergency arises when ready money is needed to be used directly for the poor, without time to apply to any of the usual sources of supply.

This is especially likely to occur during the summer when the relief agencies are disbanded and many people are away. The agent therefore makes appeal to generous citizens that before leaving the city for the summer, they send her small gifts of money, not like the contributions called for by the treasurer to be used for administrative purposes, but for an emergency fund to draw upon as occasion arises.

Enlisting in the twelfth New Hampshire regiment, as sergeant, he was in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and Fort Stevens. At the time of the assassination of Pres. Lincoln he was in Washington, and acted as escort to the President at his second inauguration, and within a few days as escort at his funeral.

After this service a praise service of the L. Y. P. S. C. E. will be held in the chapel at 7 p. m., to which all are cordially invited. On unfavorable weather the C. Letter to T. W. Trowbridge, Newton.

Dear Sir: Postmaster Noyes, of Gardiner, Maine, says the Evans House there, was painted with Devco in '82, and again in '94—twelve years—and the paint was as sound, though of course the color had faded.

Both hotels have been well cared for; the costs are as five to one. We say generally the costs are as two to one—that's enough.

The Umbrella Conscience.

A correspondent contributes another to the series of umbrella myths. During a smart shower a gentleman who was unprovided hurriedly overtook an acquaintance whom he chanced to see some distance ahead of him carrying an umbrella, intending to ask if he might be permitted to share its shelter. He was almost up to him, when suddenly the other turned around and with a guilty look thrust it into his hands and vanished.—London Globe.

HIGH SCHOOL

Graduating Exercises
Held Saturday.Its Forty-second Year is Now Closed.

The forty-second commencement at the High school was marked with graduation exercises held last Saturday morning in the assembly hall of the building at Newtonville.

As brilliant a company of parents, relatives and friends as has ever gathered to enjoy this annual event of so much significance to the graduate and of equal interest those permitted to witness it, made up the vast audience on Saturday morning.

The "grads" themselves were the central figures of the occasion and to them fell the responsibility of making it a success. Not one of them failed and the program was carried through with a smoothness that deepened admiration and brought forth much applause.

By Robert S. Gorham, Esq., Chairman of School Committee.

Benediction.
The following papers were written under the rule which allows all pupils who receive an average of over 80 per cent. for the entire four years course, to prepare a paper for graduation:
"In the Springtime," Ruth T. Walton;
"The Greatness of Simplicity," Mabelle L. Hughes;
"Tanhauser and the Pilgrim's Chorus," Florence N. Bridgman;
"Hannibal," Herbert L. Williams;
"The Music of the Greek Drama," Lucy E. Shannon;
"Control of College and School Athletics," Allan D. Kinsley;
"Knowledge and Power," Carrie M. Wilson.

The words of the class song are as follows:
Soft zephyrs gently swinging
The trees and the flowers,
And feathered songsters singing
In every leafy bower;
The faces bright
With hopeful light,
Make glad this hour.

Chorus.
We glad!
One moment thrilled with rosy blush
Will linger as the sunset flush
Within the soul in tuneful hush
Of harmony.
The glad some hours are stealing,
The moments swiftly press,
And June will soon be sealing
With growing tenderness,
The sad regret
Which may beset
Our happiness.—Chorus.

Though blissful hopes seem falling
With life's arena near,
And memories recalling
Change joy to silent tear;
Tomorrow's morn
Brings hope new-born
And life is dear.—Chorus.

Melodious voices swelling
In rapture of delight,
Of lofty aims are telling
And hearts again beat light,
Years shall prolong
The echoes' song,
And joy incite.—Chorus.

Special mention should be made of the musical numbers, which were capitally rendered, and of the class history.

Miss Elliott made a most graceful historian and her witty remarks were punctuated with applause and laughter.

Supt. Fifield announced that the prizes for the Eliot essays were awarded to Thomas W. Watkins of Auburndale first $10, and to Walter O. Blaisdell of Newtonville $5. The awards being determined by Rev. F. B. Hornbrook, Thomas Weston Esq., and Mr. E. D. Lewis.
Commissioners were awarded the officers of the battalion and Mr. Gorham presented the following diplomas:

Named by Newton Girl

Miss Mabel Hull, daughter of Mr. George A. Hull of Ivanhoe street, Newton, and grandniece of Commodore Hull, had the honor on Saturday last of christening the torpedo boat destroyer Hull. The launching took place at the yards of Harlan & Hollingsworth in Wilmington, Del. The Hull is 245 feet long, 23 feet extreme breadth, and one-half mean draft, with displacement of 408 tons.

Fourth of July.

In 1840 and 1845 in Boston city was celebrated by the boys of 10 to 18 years of age by firing off of Chinese crackers, (pistol size the largest used), torpedoes, and small brass cannon. No boy was allowed to make any kind of loud noise on the night of the 3rd of July in the street, or back yard. Anyone offensively trying to test the ability of the constable, (no police then), any one maliciously bent on disobeying the law, would be jerked out of his bed and walked to the watch house.

I have known of boys who would throw fire crackers from an upper window—only to soon find their door bell rung by a vigilant and their parent, promising all kinds of guarantee that it would not happen even once more. No fish born then. No other unceremonious instrument of ear torture was tolerated. Any man or boy shooting off a gun, or common pistol, (this was before revolvers were invented,) would cause almost a riot among the nearby residents. But on the morning of the 4th at four o'clock, then the boys were given full swing and people rejoiced with them, and the fun began, all people arose early, (having slept soundly owing to the goodness of the boys), and prepared for the day in excursions into the country, or to go to the Boston Common, and then it was the thing to do, "go onto the Common," rich and otherwise all went to the Democratic Common to meet and see the fun. Flag staff Hill next to Frog Pond, where is now the soldiers' monument, was the only spot on which the boys were allowed to fire off, grass hoppers, serpents, fire crackers, any boy who dared to "let 'em off" on any other part of the grounds would catch it hot from some of the crowd. But the grand conclusion to the day in every boy's and girl's mind was to see the fire works in the evening. Then the crowd had to stand between Tremont street Mall and Beacon street, with faces turned toward Beacon street Mall. This made the enclosure of the fireworks on rising ground and proved a favorite location. All the people, young and old, turned out "to see the fireworks." Boston had so few foreigners then that they were not in evidence. It was all Boston Americans. I want all of the Newton boys to read this information.

Half and Half.

The dyspeptic may well be represented pictorially as being half masculine and half feminine, and combining the least desirable characteristics of either sex. He has all the stubbornness of the man with the peevish irritability of a sick woman. He's not pleasant company at home or abroad.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It renews physical health which carries with it cheerfulness of temper, and makes life a pleasure instead of a penance.

The "Discovery" purifies the blood by eliminating the corrupt and poisonous accumulations from which disease is bred. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so increasing the supply of pure rich blood, which gives life to every organ of the body. It gives new life and new strength.

Your "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed a wonderful cure. I was Mr. M. H. House, of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia, the doctors say, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and now I am cured."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 large pages in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

JULY 4TH.

For several years the line between boyish patriotism and that of hoodlunism on the night preceding the glorious Fourth has not been clearly defined, and as the emphasis has usually been put upon the acts of vandalism by the more sober minded citizens, there is a strong feeling in the community that radical action should be taken by the authorities to repress every evidence of celebrating our national birthday until day light at least. The result heretofore has been that more hoodlunism has been incited by this policy as it is human nature for boys to do that which they are told they must not do, and it becomes an act of boyish bravado to dodge the policeman.

There is no very great harm done in allowing the boys to dispose of their surplus energy in making as much noise as they please, even as early as midnight on the day of days. The community can afford to be lenient in this respect on one day in the year. But the line should be sharply drawn at noise. The police would do far more effective service if they let the noise maker alone and devoted their entire attention to the mischief maker whose destruction of property has caused all the odium to attach to the celebration of Independence Day.

The action of the school board in continuing the one session plan in the Bigelow school will be approved by the majority of parents in that district, who feel that the greater convenience of the one session is more important than the possible mental and physical strain involved in the five hours' continuous application to school work.

To these parents who feel that the health of their children is paramount to the demands of dancing or music, the result is far from satisfactory, and the agitation will undoubtedly be continued in season and out of season until the danger to health is entirely eliminated from school work.

The difficulty in the matter of toilet accommodations in Nonantum square seems to be in the way of adjustment, as Mrs. Brickett has now complied with the law and has fitted up a convenient lunch room, with a new gas range, and proper appliances to enable her to legally petition for a common victualler's license.

As the board of aldermen has practically committed itself to grant such license when the legal requirements were fulfilled, it would not only be a breach of good faith to now refuse to do its part, but would entail very great hardships on the travelling public, and continue an intolerable nuisance in that part of the city.

The town of Weston has refused a location to the Waltham St. Rwy. Co. to the Concord street bridge, and thereby furnishes an additional reason why the Concord street location in Newton to that Company should be rejected. If granted in Newton, and with a location in Waltham, it would be then be possible for the Company to obtain the Weston location by appeal to the Railroad Commissioners. Residents of Weston are therefore greatly interested in the action of our board of aldermen next Monday evening.

The excellence of the music at the many graduating exercises at the public schools this week has been the subject of much favorable comment. Mr. Walton is evidently the right man in the right place.

The new time table on the steam railroad shows evidence of a desire on the part of the Company to give better train service to the city, and we hope that still better and cheaper service to Boston is in the very near future.

VERMONT AND LAKE CHAMPLAIN

GROWING FAMER OF THIS ATTRACTIVE REGION AS A SUMMER RESORT.

In considering the claims of any particular locality as a summer resort the matters of most vital importance with the majority of people are healthfulness, accessibility, natural attractions, quality of entertainment and expense. In all these respects Vermont is equalled by few regions in the Union and surpassed by none. This, indeed, is the enthusiastic verdict of thousands from all parts of the country, who, in increasing numbers each year, have thoroughly tested the hospitality and attractions of this beautiful section of the country. The Central Vermont Railway's new book of Vermont's resorts describes the advantages and charms of summer life in the Green Mountains and on the picturesque islands and shores of Lake Champlain. This attractive publication now ready for distribution, will be sent for 4c. stamp on application to T. H. Hanley, N. E. P. A., Central Vermont Ry., 306 Washington street, Boston.

Clubs and Lodges.

—Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F., elected these officers at its annual meeting last evening: John H. Bowker, N. G.; John T. Beale, V. G.; Harvey C. Wood, Sec.; Frank E. Hunter, Treas.; Frank Linnell, Fin. Sec. and Reuben Forknall, Chaplain. Deputy Grand officers will install the newly elected officers of Elliott lodge of Needham next Tuesday evening.

At the regular annual meeting of Gethsemane Commandery, held Monday, June 23rd, the following list of officers were re-elected: Frank L. Nagle, Eminent Commander; E. G. Pond, Generalissimo; Wm. F. Jarvis, Captain General; George Breeden, Prelate; Wm. D. Swan Sr. Warden; J. Franklin Ryder Jr. Warden; Jas. B. Fuller Treasurer; Asa C. Jewett Recorder. The installation services were performed by Past Eminent Sir Albert L. Harwood assisted by Past Eminent Sir Lewis E. Binney. One of the pleasant features of the occasion was the presentation of a very beautiful Past Commander's Jewell to Eminent Sir Frank L. Nagle. Seven candidates were given the Temple and Malta degrees.

The annual field day, held at Fitchburg, Mass., on Wednesday of this week in which Gethsemane Commandery participated together with six other Commanderies was a most successful affair and the Sir Knights of our Commandery have returned with very many pleasant recollections of a day most enjoyably spent. The Commandery with 110 swords in charge of the Eminent Commander and accompanied by the American Watch Co's band of Waltham made a fine appearance and were the recipients of much applause during the day. One of the features of the day was a meeting of the executive committee at which it was decided by a unanimous vote that Newton should be the place of the next annual field day, which will take place Wednesday, June 24th, 1903, which information will be received without much pleasure by the citizens of Newton.

Norumbega Park.

Visitors to Norumbega Park in the past seasons will remember "Foolish Ben." He first attained fame in the Zoological Garden by being chained to a post in an enclosure all by himself and it was explained to those interested enough in his seclusion to inquire the cause that he had been a gluttonous young pet bear who once and the run of a house occupied by an indulgent family. He knew his way to the ginger snap and cake jars and even got his weather eye on the hiding place of the children's candy now and then. He so abused his hospitality that he grew fat lazy and foolish and finally the family could see nothing cute about him. They turned him over to Superintendent Benson of the Zoological Garden at Norumbega Park to make a decent bear out of him if he could. All that season he was pointed out as "Foolish Ben" and parents who knew his life history used him as an object lesson to their children who wanted to eat too much candy. They said: See "Foolish Ben." He ate to much candy and now he cannot play with other bears. He's gone daffy—much sweet stuff hath made him mad we mean.

"Foolish Ben" must have heard these derisive remarks for now he is a fine specimen of a big black bear—one of those healthy and strong looking fellows in the immense bear pit at the Park. He reformed and now is popularly known as "Wise Ben." He must have done a great deal of thinking last winter for while the other bears scramble for peanuts and candy thrown onto the pit "Wise Ben" has a way of sticking right paw through the bars and separating his claws. That is a pointed invitation to place a peanut or piece of candy there. The gift at once passes in a graceful swing to Ben's mouth.

In the Rustic Theatre the vaudeville program for the coming week will be specially attractive. The afternoon and evening performances every day always draw large crowds and the talent offered is the highest class.

Other features which add to the pleasure of one's visit to Norumbega Park are the Electric Fountain, the Mysterious Chalet, Indian Colony, Restaurant, Casino, Canoeing and Boating, Woman's Cottage, Swing Court, Merry-Go-Round etc.

The small pox epidemic is not over as has been the popular belief. The severity with which it has broken out in some places should put every one on their guard and induce them to take every precaution to prevent its further spreading. Cabot's Sulpho-Naphthol will be found the most efficient agent for maintaining absolute sanitary, healthy conditions in the home. It has stood the highest bacteriological tests and proved itself a positive germicide, destroying the germs of contagious diseases.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Mr. A. J. George has been offered the chair of English Literature in the collegiate department of Clark University, Worcester.

FURTHER TEST

Of One Session Plan In
Bigelow District.School Board So Decides At Its Meeting.

At its meeting in the old Clafin building at Newtonville, Wednesday evening the school board considered a number of important subjects. Among the nominations and confirmations came the re-appointment of Supt. of Schools Albert B. Fifield, who was unanimously re-elected.

Mr. H. E. Bothfield, representing the chairman of the joint committee of Wards One and Seven members, reported in favor of the continuance of the one session plan in the Bigelow district. He offered an order to that effect. On this subject there was much discussion. Mr. Bothfield stated that the experiment had been a good test and that all interested parties had been interviewed as well as given a hearing.

Different phases of the case were then considered and finally the order was adopted to the end that a further test be made. The vote was 11 to 3. Other orders of a similar nature were adopted and will affect the Oak Hill school and Roger Walcott school at Waban. At the Thompsonville school it was decided that the afternoon sessions should remain from 1 to 3 o'clock and no change made.

Edward L. Duffee was appointed a junior master at the High school at a salary of $1200; Kenelm Winslow, a submaster at the Hamilton grammar school at a salary of $750; Ann M. Robinson, first assistant at the Wade grammar school at a salary of $700; Jane E. Stoddard, an assistant at the Horace Mann school at a salary of $650, and Mary A. Oliver an assistant at the Mason Grammar school at a salary of $650.

A petition signed by A. C. Warren and others requesting the use of the manual training room of the Pierce building for a summer school during July and August, was granted.

The Auburndale Inn at Riverside.

Hid in a cool leafy bower a veritable aerie, the Auburndale Inn at Riverside, is an unsurpassed spot to spend an hour or two from the noise, the worry, the heat and dust of city life. 'Tis the creed of the epicure that one's environment acts as a condiment to the feast. The Auburndale Inn is really like an old Swiss Chalet and the scenery that surrounds it helps to encourage this enchantment. Looking from the mezzanine window one sees the river Charles like a silver thread delicately woven in an undulating green carpet. Then there is always a delightful breeze fragrant with the woods and the hills "Mine Host," Alexander Brown, who served the Boar's head at the Boston Athletic Association prepares a feast here fit for the gods.

A Notable Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew B. Potter of West Newton celebrated the sixty-third anniversary of their marriage Wednesday. Mr. Potter is eighty-six years old and Mrs. Potter is eighty-two. Numerous relatives and friends took the opportunity to call at their home on Waltham street and extend their congratulations. Mr. Potter built that home for himself and family fifty years ago, and they have lived in it ever since. Mr. Potter was born in Westport in 1816. He was a charter member of the old Mercantile Institution for Savings and was one of its directors and appraisers during its entire existence. He was also connected with the old Blackstone National and Suffolk Co-operative banks and other financial institutions. He began his business career as a builder, but having been somewhat disabled through a fall from a building, his plans for a career changed and he became interested in the New Bedford whaling industry, and in its palmy days was part owner of a fleet of seven or eight whaling vessels. At one time also he was associated with Wyseman Marshall in the management of the old National Theatre. Mrs. Potter was born in Boston in 1820, in what was then the fashionable part of the city, on Salem street. Both have always been of the Universalist faith, and for many years attended Dr. M. M. M. old church on School street, in which they still retain membership. For the past forty years, however, they have been pewholders in the West Newton Unitarian church.

Combination Park.

The last week of Combination Park's series of evening races and vaudeville entertainments for this season commences next Monday night. The vaudeville features for next week will be Irving Jones, "The Rag Time Millionaire," famous as a writer and singer of coon songs; Gardner and West, assisted by the cute pikaninny Little Sunshine, in songs and dances; Louis M. Granata, a whistler who will be accompanied by the full band, and the Barrett brothers, conversational comedians.

A most interesting racing program has been arranged for July Fourth. It will include a 2 1/2 class trot and pace, mile heats, best three in five; a 2 1/2 class for trotters owned by members of the Dorchester Driving Club, mile heats, best three in five; a free-for-all trot and pace, half-mile heats, three heats; a race for horses that have not been a half better than 1.09 in the races at the park this season, three half mile heats, and two events for the runners.

Wednesday evening, July 2nd, come a race for horses owned in the Newtons.

Police Paragraphs.

Charles Welch of 1023 Washington street reported to the police that he was bitten by a dog Friday. He gave them the name of the supposed owner of the animal.

About 6.30 last Sunday evening Patrolman Bailey arrested on Boylston street, Newton Centre, Giuseppe Di Mario and Antonio Conti, charged with disturbing the peace. Moudy morning they were fined $10 each.

Ernest B. Johnson, arraigned Saturday in the police court for the larceny of $70 at Auburndale on June 7, changed his plea to guilty Monday morning and was fined $15, the court being assured that restitution had been made.

Investigation is being made of sundry petty thefts from the freight house and cars in the Boston & Albany yard at Newton Centre. A miscellaneous collection of articles, including soap and ginger ale, was carried off by the thieves.

OUT OF SIGHT YET IN SIGHT

This paradox refers to a trip to the PROVINCES BY THE PLANT LINE

A portion of the route is out of sight of land on up-to-date steamships, and the balance of the way in sight of the sea. The Plant Line pictures on this continent, including:

LIGHTS ALONG THE SHORE, FAMOUS HALLS AND HARBORS, EPOCHAL MONUMENTS, CELEBRATED BEACHES AND LAKES, NORTHUMBRIA SOUND.

THE ONLY ALL WATER ROUTE TO NOVA SCOTIA, CAPE BRETON, PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

Modern built-up steamships HALIFAX AND STEWART.

A JULY FOURTH ORATION.

INTERESTING TIP FOR ANY WHO HAVE BEEN INVITED TO SPEAK ON THAT OCCASION.

Under the glare of a student lamp, Jay Josiah Jenkins writes, in fact a busy man is he.

With lots to do o' nights, Beamed with ink from head to foot, His face and hands are sights.

To all great men does the summons come, Jay Josiah has heard its call, On July Fourth he must orate.

To the crowd in the village hall, With sentiments to please his friends, And with applause from all.

His brain has done so many stunts, Since he was asked to speak, And the flow of words he thought he had, Seems now so very weak.

That he hesitates to face the throng, He hasn't got the check.

For something that a new he wildly craves, He wants to speak the words, That may be reechoed 'cross the land,

Like the flight of many birds, And with the cable's aid sweep o'er, The Ocean that it girds.

The time has come for now he speaks, His lips are firm but pale, He doesn't talk of Washington, Nor twist the Lion's tail; He fails to shriek for liberty, And make King Edward quail.

The famous flights on the land and the sea, That all our histories fill, He seems to forget, or doesn't care;

On these he is quite still, And Valley Forge is naught to him, Nor the sword of Bunker Hill.

For all that was done in Seventy-Six, He hasn't a word to say, It may be he thinks there never was,

A man named Henry Clay, Or such a time a long while back, Called Independence Day.

Like all who err his time has come, The audience gets mad, They react him for his lack of thought,

And say his voice is bad, And ask if he's got any brains at all, Or if he ever had.

Thanks, thanks my friend for this lesson to us, Through you we've come to know, What the people want on July Fourth,

When they hear their orator blow, To watch the eagle's chest expand, And the Yankee rooster crow.

Laverett Bentley

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

Boston, June 25.

Unless something unexpected occurs this will be the last communication from your correspondent as to the proceedings of the Legislature of 1902. Only a few belated bills remain to be acted upon and by a cross cut or two prorogation may come at any hour, although the obstinacy of a few men may delay it for some days yet.

On Monday the Boston subway bill came up in the House for final action on the amendment of the Senate striking out the provision that only United States citizens should be employed in the work of constructing the tunnel under Washington street. During the debate which was provoked on the matter Mr. Bullard of Newton pointed out that the insertion of the labor clause in the subway bill would enormously increase the expense and endanger its acceptance by the directors of the Boston elevated railway company, who must take this action before the measure will be in a position to be voted upon by the people of Boston. Probably the estimate of the transit commission, that this expense would be $1,200,000 in addition to its cost if built by the same methods as were pursued in the construction of the Tremont street subway, is not seriously out of the way. There was quite a debate on the matter in the House, though not all was said which might have been said in pointing out the way the labor section would have embarrassed the transit commission and contractors, as in constructing a deep tunnel as is proposed by the joint action of the associated boards of trade, the elevated railway people and the Legislature, it will be necessary to employ a great many miners who are not likely to be citizens. The labor men in the House insisted so strongly upon the retention of the labor clause that they carried their point by a vote of 94 to 92, thus producing a deadlock which called for the appointment of a conference committee as the only method of securing an agreement. There may be some who will question the absolute honesty of the majority on this point; Mr. MacCartney of Rockland pointed out with great candor, as well as with some sarcasm, that however the vote might go on Monday ultimately the House would be compelled to concur through the action of the conference committee. Everybody realizes that with the majority in the Senate as strong as it is for the rejection of the labor clause, there is no probability that any conference committee could report in favor of the Senate receding, while with the House, practically divided evenly on the question doubtless the conference committee's report in favor of the House receding would be immediately accepted. Thus it will be seen that the men who are looking for the vote of the labor contingent in Boston were able to stand by their colors, while absolutely certain that this action would not defeat the ultimate approval of the subway bill. Once in a while it happens that men cannot take this kind of action with safety, but the conditions in this case were somewhat peculiar.

With the opening of the week, came a new issue for adjudication. It came in the petitions of Mayor Dean of Malden, Glimes of Somerville, Larrabee of Melrose, Brice of Everett and Shepard of Lynn, who asked that an emergency bill be passed to permit the local authorities to go upon private land in the work of subduing the gypsy and brown tail moths, the expense incurred to become a lien upon the property. The cause of this petition was the outbreak, within the last fortnight, of colonies of gypsy moths in the cities north of Boston, which are repeating the scenes enacted in Medford in the early '90's. The prophecy of that staunch friend of agriculture, E. W. Wood of West Newton, who served as long upon the gypsy moth committee, is coming true. The indications are, however, that the rapid increase of the gypsy moths under the policy of letting them alone is producing a plague quicker than even the members of the gypsy moth committee anticipated. Last Sabbath was a day long to be remembered in Malden, for instance, owing to the battle going on between the almost helpless human race and the conquering army of gypsy moths. However, it should be added that the Legislature in its haste passes the bill asked by the mayors, it will probably regret it, as a confiscation of property has never been popular, and this could not probably be enacted with due consideration. Cambridge has managed her insect pest through municipal action, the expense coming from the general tax levy, and this is the only right way to do it, although the writer is as strong in the opinion as he ever has been, that the Commonwealth has neglected its plain duty in not continuing the work of gypsy moth extermination when it was on the high road to absolute success.

The Senate has very wisely referred over to the next General Court a bill to require street railway companies to pay a part of the cost of improving highways upon which they have locations. The indications are that like action will be taken on the bill to require street railway companies to pay a part of the cost of building or repairing bridges on highway upon which they have locations, or that it will be materially amended. The feeling has been that this class of expenditure was wisely taken care of in the street railway act of 1898, and a long and bitter contest would have been prevented had there been an insistence on action this year upon the measure.

As he looks back upon the work of this year Representative Dana has very little, if anything, to regret. With the possible exception of Representative Schofield of Malden, no member of the House in recent years has compelled a more universal sense of confidence by his wise and patriotic service than has Mr. Dana. He has never chosen the easy work; as a member of the committee on the judiciary, as one of the most industrious members on special committee on the consolidating and arranging of the public statutes, as chairman of the insurance committee this year in addition to his services as a member of the judiciary, the work which has come to his hands has been of a technical, intricate, nature. He has never played to the galleries, but again and again has arisen in his place to urge the House to go slow in regard to unwise and improper legislation, to consider the Constitutional aspect of questions which again and again come up, and to be a conservative body, rather than one governed by prejudice or the eloquent appeals of men who were unable to see clearly the absolute result of the course they favored.

The work of Representative Bullard has been of a different nature from that of Representative Dana and they have touched elbows on only a few of the issues which have come up. Two years ago, the chairmanship of the railroad committee carried with it an immense responsibility because of the railroad lease questions then under consideration. There have been no such questions this year, but Mr. Bullard has taken all such matters as have come to him in a spirit of industry and with a desire to maintain the prestige of his committee and avoid controversy wherever he could do so.

The last important measure to be passed this year, of course, will be the bill to provide for a state tax, which will be this year $1,500,000 or $250,000 less than last year. If Governor Crane claims the credit of this reduction, few will be disposed to deny that he deserves it.

MANN.

How Cheap Baking Powder Is Made.

The Health Department of New York has seized a quantity of so-called cheap baking powder, which it found in that city. Attention was attracted to it by the low price at which it was being sold in the department stores. Samples were taken and the chemist of the Health Department reported the stuff to be "alum powder," which analysis showed to be composed chiefly of alum and pulverized rock.

The powder was declared to be dangerous to health, and several thousand pounds were carted to the off dock and destroyed. It is unsafe to experiment with these so-called "cheap" articles of food. They are sure to be made from alum, rock, or other injurious matter. In baking powders, the high class, cream of tartar brands are the most economical, because they go farther in use and are healthful beyond question.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre—"Prince of Pilsen." Pixley and Luder's merry musical comedy is in the zenith of the most prosperous summer engagements in the history of the Tremont Theatre, Boston, and the house, be the weather hot or cool, wet or dry, is packed nightly by enthusiastic audiences. The irresistible music and the excellence of the rearranged cast are features, but the management is alert for the enhancement of the performance to a degree that will insure a continuation of the piece at the Tremont until the beginning of the regular season in the autumn. The latest novelty was the engagement of Miss la Countess Bianca de Jeneppe, whose brilliancy in more than one direction should form an attraction for a long time to come. The titled lady is the fortunate possessor of a type of beauty rarely met with, and her talents were promptly recognized in the masterly violin obligato to the "Tale of a Seashell." Encores for the countess were so numerous during the week that the advisability of introducing the feature in another number is apparent. The "Pilsen" beauty show has become the talk of the town since the advent of pretty Lillian Coleman and the radiant countess. Miss Coleman's portrayal of Nellie Wagner is a vast improvement, and Miss Peebles is particularly sweet and winsome. Edith. The entire performance goes with a vim and dash that is most inspiring.

NEW ENGINE HOUSE

BUILDING AT CHESTNUT HILL THOROUGHLY EQUIPPED FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT PURPOSES.

The new engine house to be built in the Chestnut Hill district is to be of brick, with limestone trimmings and slate and copper roof.

There will be a hose tower 60 feet high and every convenience for handling apparatus as well as for the comfort of the men.

There will be an apparatus room, with two wide entrances designed for two sets of apparatus. In the rear of this is the stable, with six stalls and a hay loft of above. The stable is cut off from the rest of the building by a brick party wall as a protection against fire.

At the left of the apparatus room, with both an outside and an inside entrance, is a pleasant sitting room, 15 by 11 feet, with toilet and lavatory adjoining. Back of these, and opening out of the apparatus room are the stairs running to the second story and basement.

Next to this stairway is the hose tower, six feet square on the inside, with tackle for drying hose. Beside this is the harness room. In the rear of this, and opening into the stable by wide doors, is a storage room for wagons, etc.

On the second floor a corridor leads from the stairs to the front of the building, where the sliding pole is placed.

On the left of the corridor is the assembly room, 27 by 14 feet. On the right are four chambers. This floor is also supplied with a bath room, toilet room, drying room, and store room, which, with the hay loft, completes the second story. In the basement provision is made for the boiler room and coal bin.

There is more Catarrh than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PEOPLE FRIGHTENED

A SWIFTLY MOVING BICYCLIST DISCHARGED HIS REVOLVER AS HE RODE THROUGH THE STREETS.

The spectacle of a swiftly moving cyclist brandishing a revolver in the air and occasionally discharging it, sent terror to the hearts of many pedestrians and residents on Washington street, between Newton and Newtonville, late last Friday evening.

About 10 Patrolman Richard J. Goode was standing in Nonantum square, Newton, when he saw a young man on a bicycle dash through Washington street toward Newtonville. The patrolman directed his gaze after the departing wheelman and before the latter had passed out of sight Goode saw him discharge a revolver in the air.

Just at this moment a Newtonville bound electric car was leaving Nonantum square and the patrolman boarded it. It was then a chase between the cyclist and the car.

With a good start, however, the young man on the wheel reached Newtonville in advance of the car. He managed, though moving quite rapidly, to find opportunity to discharge his revolver more than once. A minute before he was finally overhauled by Patrolman Goode, the wheelman flourished his revolver in a group of hurdy gurdy operators who were gathered on Washington street with their machines.

The young man was taken to police headquarters and booked upon a charge of violating the city ordinances.

His name proved to be Benedetto Nadelli, and he said he lived in Brighton. He gave his occupation as a hurdy gurdy operator.

Nadelli was arraigned before Judge Kennedy in the police court Saturday morning. He was represented by counsel. After Patrolman Goode had testified, counsel said that the defendant had seen other boys discharging revolvers on June 17, and as he had been given a revolver with some blank cartridges, he thought he would like to share in the fun.

Judge Kennedy decided that Nadelli was guilty, and in order that he might not forget that such actions as his of Friday evening were not desirable on the public streets he fined him $3.

Improved Cabin Berths of The Plant Line.

There is such a demand for state-room accommodations beyond the capacity of the Plant Line steamers that every effort has been made to improve the free berth cabin accommodations on these ships. The S. S. Halifax particularly has a new Ladies' Cabin with seventy-five berths made of iron, and not only the berths themselves, but the entire cabin is painted in pure white which gives a very neat and airy appearance. The iron berths are much better than wooden, as a good circulation of air and light is insured thereby. These will no doubt be sought after by many who otherwise would take a stateroom as the cost of passage this way is so much cheaper. This new cabin is amply provided with brass clothes hooks, porcelain wash stands, mirrors and all necessary toilet arrangements. These new berths are of a special pattern made in England, and are the best of the kind ever seen in this vicinity.

He has proved to be a young man of high character, with strong principles and great integrity, so that we feel that it is a great loss to our community to have him go, but if we must lose him, he has our best wishes for the future, and we sincerely hope that success awaits him in his new field.

BOTH DROWNED.

Canoeing Accident On The Charles.

Young Man and Woman Sank No Help Was Near.

Miss Katherine C. Hurley, aged 22 of Hurley place, Newton Centre, and Fred H. Lewis aged 34, of West Roxbury, were drowned Wednesday afternoon while canoeing on the upper Charles river near Appleton's Point between Oak Hill and West Roxbury.

The circumstances of the accident will probably never be known as there were no witnesses. A canoe half filled with water and upon the bottom of which lay a vest containing a watch which had stopped at 4.05 and a memorandum book, tell the story of the tragedy.

The above described articles were picked up by a young man named Kempton. The finding was reported to the police of West Roxbury and a sergeant and patrolmen of division 13 started to drag the river. The Newton police were notified and later assumed charge of the work. The bodies were not recovered until 9.45 yesterday morning.

Miss Hurley was private secretary to Mrs. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward and came of a well known Newton Centre family. Her death comes as a severe blow and much sorrow is felt in Newton Centre.

Mr. Lewis formerly worked for J. J. Noble a Newton Centre druggist and gave up his position there three years ago to engage in business for himself in West Roxbury. He was both successful and popular.

The funeral of Miss Katharine C. Hurley will be held tomorrow. At 9 a. m. services will be conducted at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre. Frederick E. Lewis will be taken to Waitfield, Vt. for burial.
